Tractor Mishap Kills Father of 4

War Vet Suffocates In Mud

Leo Allen Pinned Under Machine

ASHLAND—Leo C. Allen, 29, Air Force veteran and father of four children, was suffocated at 4 p. m. yesterday when a tractor upset on a hill and pinned him face downward in the mud.

He was hauling logs on the farm of his father, Otto, two miles northeast of Savannah.

Allen still was breathing when his father found him. Neighbors were called to extricate him and he died soon after being released. Dr. A. D. Lewis, Ashland county coroner, returned a verdict of death by suffocation.

Coroner Lewis said Allen and his father were hauling logs out of a woods on the farm when the tractor overturned.

SERVED IN AIR FORCE

Allen was an Air Force sergeant during World War II and served in the European theater for three years. He was born on July 8, 1919, in Kenmore, and had lived on the farm the past four years.

He hauled milk in the community for the Carnation Milk company, in addition to his helping on the farm.

Two funeral services are scheduled with one being held in Ashland at 8 p. m. Friday at the Denbow-Bear funeral home, with Rev. John Jason officiating. The other, at 2 p. m. Saturday, will be held in the First Mennonite church in Wadsworth, with Rev. Russell Mast officiating. Burial will be in the Wadsworth cemetery.

Surviving are his widow, Anna; a son, Kenneth; three daughters, Judith, Becky and Sylvia; his parents, at home; four brothers, David, of Lorain; Donald, of Fitchville, Robert and Otto jr., at home; two sisters, Miss Dorothy Allen and Mrs. Jeannette Arnold, of Miami, Fla.

Withhold Payments

COLUMBUS —(UP)— State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson today ordered all payments of state funds to contractors and architects on the $3,300,000 new hospital at Apple Creek stopped until he can determine that "the taxpayers are not going to be gyped."

At the same time he sent an engineer-examiner from his department to inspect the controversial new construction project.

He said he wanted to make it clear that he is not taking sides in the fight between George B. Sowers, state public works director, and Cleveland Heights Architect Joseph A. Gattozzi, who drew the plans for the hospital and was recently fired by Sowers.

Ferguson said he dispatched Harold W. Wendelken of his staff to inspect the plans presented by Gattozzi and approved in July, 1947, by three state officials.

Wife Gets Blame

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Mrs. John E. Novatney, wife of Dr. Novatney a Cleveland dentist, was held fully resonsible today for a $61,000 error in making her husband's income tax returns for 1943, 1944, and 1945.

COURT RECESSES

DEFIANCE — (UP) — The 15-judge conservancy court hearing petitions for establishment of a 15-county Maumee watershed conservancy district was in recess today until next Monday.

Costa Rica Sets Example For World

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica—(INS) — The little republic of Costa Rica attained the ultimate in disarmament today—it has disbanded its army.

Provisional President Jose Figueres, who took power five weeks ago, announced that the troops he led to victory in civil war have been sent back to regular jobs.

Bellavista fortress in the center of San Jose will become a museum. A national police force will be entrusted with enforcing law and order.

Berlin Reds Launch War Of Nerves

Would Influence Coming Election

BULLETIN

BERLIN —(UP)— The United States, Britain and France withdrew their liaison officers from Berlin's communist-held city hall today, thus severing the last formal link between the east and west German governments in this divided city.

BERLIN—(INS)— Berlin communists launched a "nerve war" today to prevent Germans from registering their disgust at Soviet-sponsored splitting of the city in Sunday's elections.

Soviet agents spread a sinister whispering campaign. Berlin residents are being told that when the Russians take over all of the city at some future date, all those who voted in Sunday's election will feel communist wrath.

At the same time rumors of coming street riots are circulating. All are obviously designed to frighten Germans from the polls.

United States officials said that the Soviets are increasingly afraid that a giant turnout of voters Sunday will offer incontrovertable proof that the German population opposed communist policies.

Meanwhile, the legal city assembly gathered to consider its next move in the current "state of emergency" decreed yesterday. It was thought that until the Soviet-backed rump government takes definite action against legal officials, nothing can be done but ignore it.

Western currency experts were drafting plans to make the west's deutsche mark the sole legal tender in the allied sectors of Berlin. While this will further lessen chances of a compromise on the currency deadlock, it was forced on the west by Soviet action in sponsoring the new puppet administration.

Armed pro-communists yesterday invaded the western sectors in an attempt to break up an election rally of the anti-communist Christian Democratic party (SPD.) Ten persons were arrested in the clash.

Sex-Changing Youth Shoots Self In Head

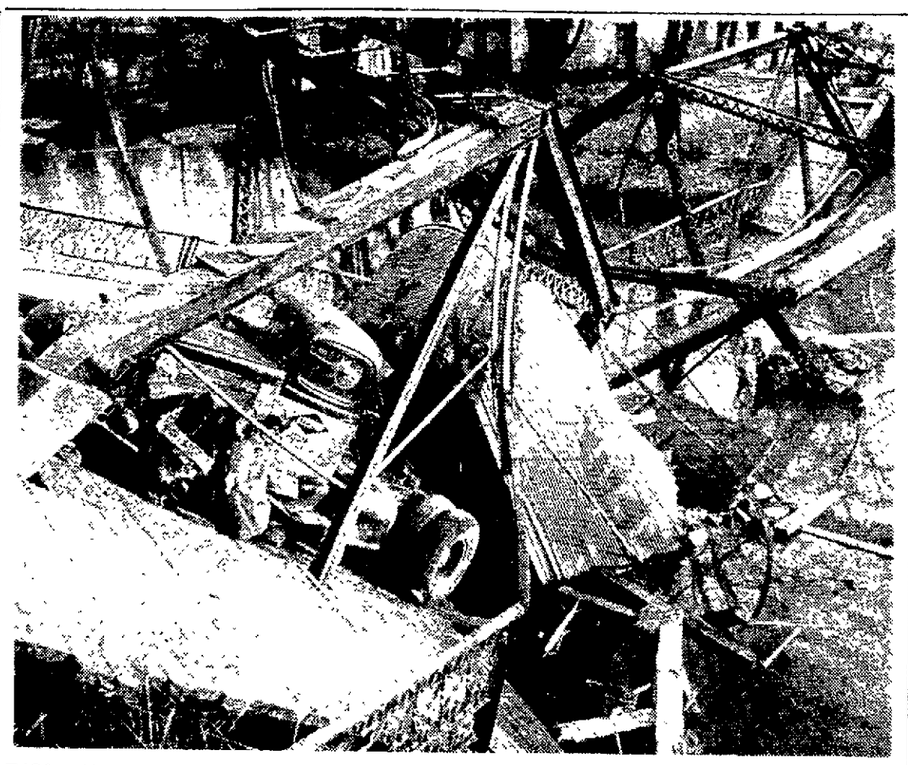
Reid was a girl until he was 18 years old, when his sex changed. In 1946, he stabbed his father to death as the climax of a drunken brawl in which his father twitted him about his early life.

He served a year of a one-to-twenty-year sentence for manslaughter, but apparently memories nagged at him until he could stand it no longer. Last night, in his lonely room, he shot himself through the head with a borrowed .22 rifle.

'Model' Prisoners Bludgeon Guards

DRAPER, Utah —(UP)— Two "model" inmates broke for freedom early today after bludgeoning Utah state prison farm guards.

Two guards were attacked from the rear while making a check of number three prison barracks. A crude blackjack rubber hose deadened with a pipe was used to crack the guards on the head.



FALLS INTO CREEK—The driver escaped with minor injuries when this truck crashed through a wood and metal bridge at the northern edge of Cardington this morning. The old bridge spans Whetstone creek and has been the scene of numerous accidents in recent years.

Imprisoned For Threat

Youth Again Raps Truman

NEW ORLEANS — (AP) — A young man pleaded guilty to a charge of threatening the life of President Truman, was sentenced to prison for three years, then told a federal judge he still intends to carry out his threat.

Twenty-year-old Dennis E. Porter was sentenced yesterday by U. S. District Judge Herbert Christenberry.

"I feel that President Truman is not adequate to supervise the people of the United States," Porter said after he was sentenced. "And a lot of other people probably feel the same way, but don't say so."

Then he added: "The United States doesn't mean anything to me anyhow."

Porter threatened the President's life in a letter sent to the White House. It was written while he was in jail at Franklinton, La., serving a sentence for defamation of character.

See Atom Antidote

CHICAGO, — (UP) — A scientist predicted today that within this generation science will produce a pill, a vaccine or some other antidote for radioactive poisoning, the dread after-effects of an atomic bombing.

Dr. Robert D. Boche of the University of Chicago's institute of radiobiology and giophysics, made the prediction on the sixth anniversary of the dawn of the atomic age.

It was six years ago today that a little group of scientists working in strict secrecy in a room beneath the university of Chicago football stands produced the world's first sustained nuclear chain reaction.

Since then, scientists have been hard at work to counteract the atom's unleashed fury.

Harvest Corn For Sick Man

Neighbors Prove Good Samaritans

(Picture on Page 15)

It's a modern and fast moving era, but the spirit of pioneer days, when neighbor helped neighbor, is still alive, Helbert and Beatrice Warrick of Olivesburg learned yesterday.

The Warricks' corn was ready to husk. Warrick was just getting over virus pneumonia and in no condition to get out on the wet ground and shuck corn into the big wagonbeds.

So his neighbors, members of the Olivesburg Grange, headed by Charles Walker, Chester Moore, Harold Pruner and Carl Smith, organized some 20 corn huskers and went into the 10-acre field yesterday. The sun shone brightly and melted a little of the frost on the ground, making the earth sticky and hard to drive through. Pruner's tractor finally mired in the mud and was pulled out.

Among the huskers were about 10 FFA boys who had been given a half day off at Union high school to lend the Warricks a hand.

Behind the need for corn huskers is a series of "set-backs" that would have killed the spirit in a lot of people.

The Warricks were married out west and came to Ohio before the war years. First, they bought a tinning and hardware shop at Rittman.

SELL TIN SHOP

"We had a lot of orders," Mrs. Warrick said, "but because of the war no materials to fill them. Finally, we had to get rid of the shop and lost money in the transaction. Then during the war I worked in the Goodyear Aircraft plant in Akron and Helbert began building our own home, paying for the materials as we went along and could build. Later we sold it to a GI who had trouble getting his bonus and we're still waiting for the payment."

About the time that the Warricks sold their little home in Talmadge, a suburb of Akron, they decided that the country was the place for them.

"I wanted to get away from the city," Warrick said.

So they bought their present home north of Olivesburg and began raising a garden.

"This summer I put up about 400 quarts of fruit and vegetables," Mrs. Warrick said. "Our two children, Eddie and Patty, eat a lot."

HELPS HUSBAND

Mrs. Warrick is almost as good a tinner as her husband. When he installs a furnace, she goes along to help.

"I do the heavy work," said Warrick, who now is thin and frail from his illness and looks not at all like a man who could rustle a heavy furnace around.

Warrick has started to tear down the old barn on his farm. He was ready to erect a corn crib for his grain. Then illness came.

Men from the Seventh Day Adventist church in Mansfield erected the corn crib and the Warrick neighbors filled it.

"We think neighbors are wonderful," the Warricks said.

Pokes Cigarette In Youth's Eye

CLEVELAND —(AP)—Eighteen-year-old James Brooks has sworn to an assault and battery warrant against Edward Supinski, charging the latter punched him in the eye with a lighted cigarette.

Brooks said he has supported his widowed mother and two younger brothers for more than a year and has been unable to work since receiving the injury Saturday night.

Bridge Wrecked By Truck

Cardington Gas, Water Cut Off

CARDINGTON — Gas and water service for some 500 residents was cut off here this morning when a truck-trailer skidded on U. S. Route 42 and crashed through a bridge over the Whetstone creek.

Marion state highway patrolmen said the bridge, carrying both service mains, plunged into the creek as the truck skidded into the guy wires on the old wood and metal span. The truck driver suffered minor injuries.

Patrolmen said it could not be determined as yet whether the truck caused the collapse or whether the bridge had been weakened by a previous accident. An accident occurred on the bridge last week.

Motorists headed south into Cardington approach the bridge at an angle and after climbing a short grade. A number of accidents have occurred at the scene in the last 10 years.

SERVICE BACK TONIGHT

Ohio Fuel Gas company officials at Galion said gas and water service could not be restored until tonight.

The truck, owned by the Keeshin Motor Express of Chicago, was driven by Ralph R. Cross, 26, of Cleveland.

Patrolmen said Cross suffered slight lacerations of both legs and head injuries as a result of the accident.

Patrolmen said southbound traffic was being re-routed on Route 529 and that northbound motorists were sent over the New Haven road.

Arab Group Names King

Pick Abdullah Palestine Ruler

BEIRUT, LEBANON, — (AP) —A Palestine Arab conference in Jericho was reported here today to have proclaimed King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan as king of Palestine.

The conference was called "The General Palestine Congress." It met yesterday in Arab-occupied Jericho, the Biblical city north of the Dead Sea, under the presidency of Sheik Moh Ali Gaabary.

Official confirmation of the report was lacking.

However, a dispatch from Amman, Trans-Jordan, which passed through Arab censorship last night said Sheik Gaabary had told King Abdullah of proposals by the congress and asked him, in the name of all Palestinians, to take steps for unification of Palestine and Trans-Jordan, neighboring states.

Check Divorce Records

NEW YORK — (UP) — Seven accountants and several assistant district attorneys began searching the records of thousands of divorce cases in the New York county courthouse today to learn how many may be invalid because of faked testimony.

Urge New Gates At Crossings

The Pennsylvania railroad is seeking permission of the city council to install automatic gates at three Mansfield railroad crossings, Mayor Roy W. Vaughn said today.

The company wants to install automatic short-arm gates at the Orange street, the East Fourth street, and the East Fifth street crossings.

A large number of near-accidents have occurred at those three crossings. The gates currently in use at the Orange and Fourth crossings are manually operated. The Fifth street crossing has only a watchman.

The proposed installations were discussed yesterday afternoon in a meeting at the city building.

Attending the meeting were C. R. Montgomery, director of Pennsylvania railroad's eastern division; H. L. Reiner, supervisor of telegraph and signals; and C. H. Kooser, supervisor of tracks. Mayor Vaughn, Service-Safety Director Earl T. Garrison, and Acting Traffic Commissioner Robert Garver represented the city with the city council traffic committee, including M. A. Mihalick, H. J. Hollingsworth, and Thomas Wright.

Also present were John Routzon, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce, and John Conard, chairman of the C. of C. highway committee.

COST $140,000

Railroad officials said the gates would cost about $140,000. If council approves the proposal, authorization will have to be obtained from the railroad company's board of directors. Such authorization would be virtually automatic, the railroad officials told the meeting.

The automatic short-arm gate is in use in Loudonville, Canton, East Liverpool, Salem, and Massillon. The council traffic committee will study some of these gates in actual operation before it makes its report, Mayor Vaughn said.

The new type of gate uses lights, bells, and extension arms. The officials pointed out there was no danger of a car getting trapped on tracks after the bars are lowered, because the bars do not extend any farther than the width of the oncoming traffic lane.

The company officials said the installation would take from six to nine months after council has given its approval.

The North Main street crossing of the Pennsylvania tracks was reopened to traffic at 9 p. m. yesterday. It had been closed since the middle of November while improvements were made.

Temperature Dips to 23

Mansfielders who were looking forward to some real winter weather were disappointed again today. The mercury began climbing throughout the state after temperatures dropped to the lowest point of the season in many places last night.

Mansfield was one of the coldest spots in the state with a low of 23. Toledo and Youngstown had lows of 22 before midnight while Zanesville had 21, and Cleveland was slightly warmer with a low of 24.

The forecast is for increasing cloudiness and milder today, followed by rain tonight or Friday. The weatherman said it would not be quite as cold tonight.

Forecaster Milton Davis at Cleveland pointed out that the month of November had been unusually warm and extremely light in snowfall. December averages nine inches of snowfall, he said.

Out of Circulation

CINCINNATI —(AP)— Homer Green, 49, home at large, was sentenced to five years' imprisonment yesterday after admitting he passed bogus payroll checks for $28,000 in 12 years. U. S. District Judge John H. Druffel, passing sentence, commented: "It seems to me that you are a good man to keep out of circulation for some time."

Reds Say Suchow Captured

U. S. Adopts Go-Slow Stand

(Compiled From Wire Services)

Chinese dispatches from Hong Kong indicated today that evacuation of the Chinese government from Nanking to the south already has started.

The Chinese government is mapping an evacuation program by land, sea and air, the dispatches said, although officially it was denied that the government would quit Nanking.

About 50 C-46 cargo planes were reported alerted at Nanking and Shanghai, including a number of CNAC planes. Three heavily loaded planes arrived at Canton last night and were placed under military guard immediately.

The dispatches said the government plans to evacuate about 100,000 dependents and workers and about 1,000 tons of government documents and property.

In San Francisco, the Chinese communist radio was heard claiming the capture of Suchow, big nationalist base 200 miles northwest of Nanking.

The Red radio, in a broadcast monitored by the Associated Press, said the city fell to its armies yesterday. There were no immediate details.

(Pilots droping rice to the isolated city reported in Shanghai that Red forces were within a mile of Suchow, abandonment of which was ordered by the Chinese government earlier in the week.)

HEAR GUNFIRE

Gunfire became audible in Pengpu, 105 miles north of Nanking, today when communist forces drove within reach of that last major outpost above Nanking in a mammoth battle involving some 750,000 troops.

Some 400,000 of the government's finest remaining troops were trapped and fighting desperately to escape from two communist pockets—one immediately below Suchow and the other in the Suhsien-Kuchen area, closer to Nanking.

(In north China, meanwhile, the communists were reported in a Reuters dispatch to have thrown three new armies into a fresh offensive aimed at the inner Mongolian capital of Kalgan, northwest of Peiping.)

In Washington, national China's hopes for an immediate pledge of American aid suffered another setback today.

Government officials said the administration is no where near a decision on a new Chinese assistance program. And they said there's a chance it won't even be ready by time Congress convenes Jan. 3.

The administration's go-slow attitude made it clear that Mme. Chiang Kai-shek faced an uphill fight here in trying to win quick and large-scale aid for her husband's communist-threatened nationalist government.

There was some belief that Mme. Chiang, who arrived here yesterday by plane, would try to influence the administration by rallying American public opinion to her cause.

Mme. Chiang declined to make any statement upon arriving here. She went directly to the Leesburg, Va., estate of Secretary of State and Mrs. George C. Marshall for a rest before beginning her campaign for help.

Freak Mishap Claims Two

WAUSEON —(AP)— A farmer's wife and her two-year-old daughter drowned in 18 inches of water yesterday after they were pinned in a shallow ditch by an overturned wagon load of corn.

Victims of the freak accident were Mrs. Eugene Pontius, 27, and her daughter, Judy.

Mrs. Pontius, her son William, 4 and Judy, were riding in the wagon which was being pulled by a corn picker. At the end of the field the wagon overturned in the ditch, trapping Mrs. Pontius and her two children. Pontius raised the wagon enough to allow his son to crawl out. The mother and daughter were removed later after help arrived, but they were dead.

Release In Sight; Man Hangs Himself

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Ralph Carson, 51, serving a three-year sentence from Washington county for carrying concealed weapons, hanged himself with a bed sheet in his cell in the psychopathic ward of Ohio penitentiary last night. Warden Ralph Alvis said Carson would have been released next June.

A Bath For Your Balsam

Keep Yule Tree In Water To Avoid Holiday Fire

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS

WASHINGTON—(UP)—If you want to keep from burning the house down Christmas, give your balsam a douse from the tap in the kitchen sink.

That's official from the United States Forest Service.

The forest products laboratory at Madison, Wis., did a lot of research on the subject and concluded that good old plain water does more to keep a Christmas tree from getting dry, and therefore flame-happy, than a lot of things on the market.

Here's what you do:

First buy a tree that has been chopped down recently.

Then cut off the end of the trunk diagonally at least an inch above the original cut end. Stand the tree in water at once and keep the water level above the cut part as long as the tree is in the house. Or, you can "plant" the tree in a bucket of sand and pour water over the sand.

Not only will the chances of a fire starting be lessened, but the tree will stay fresh and green a lot longer and the needles won't fall and mess up the place.

A lot of folks like to pretty up a tree with fire-retarding coatings. This costs a little money and is a lot of trouble, but the service has a home formula. One plan produces a transparent, colorless coating. The second, with about the same ingredients give a tree that cream-colored look, which you can tint with suitable dyes.

For this you use sodium silicate, some china clay and water. Two coats are recommended and can be applied either by dipping or spraying.

But even with this coating, the forest service recommends that you still sink the bottom of the tree in a tub of water—just to be sure.

The patent bureau of the department of commerce has okayed a number of products for coating trees and for "fire-proof" tinsels and other decorations. Many of these have been tested in the laboratories at the national bureau of standards. (Mansfielders will be able to obtain a number of fire-proofing sprays as well as trees locally treated.—Ed.)

The bureau, by the way, has some suggestions of its own for a safe, as well as a merry Christmas.

The standard people recognize two hazards around Christmas time. The trees, of course, and electrical toys

One of the dangers in the toy department are those playthings which require a transformer. This latter gadget should be entirely enclosed in an iron or insulating case, and should have a circuit breaker which will prevent an excessive current in the toys or transformer.

LeMunyon and Lynch Lead Pin Parade; Bissman Five Increases Loop Margin

Hal LeMunyon is Mansfield's No. 1 bowler of the day after firing a 642 series for Jerry's 36 Bar last night in the City A league at Colony.

Hal led off with scores of 219 and 226, but slipped ever so slightly to 197 in his final game. He, nevertheless, held a small lead over Bob Lynch of league-leading Bissman's who had 190-200-249—639.

Four other men went over the 600 mark. Carl Englehorn, Mitsch's, fired a consistent 210-208-203—621 while Nick Weber, Liederkranz, came in with 213-194-207 — 614. Harold Selby, Mitsch's, posted 197-207-201—605, while Dale Cleckner, 36 Bar, had 104-192-216—602.

JUST MISS OUT

Just missing the honor roll team were: Oscar Tracht, Mid-Ohio, 594; Joe DeYarmon, Deschner, 591; Phillipon, Mitsch's, 592; Carl Heilman, Ace Cabs, 582; and Lou Zahn, Liederkranz, 581.

DeYarmon had a single game of 257 while Heilman chipped in with a 235. Skeets Wolf, Waldman's, qualified as the hard-luck guy. He opened with a 226 and closed with 222 but could get only 571 pins. He had a middle game of 193.

Bissman's swept three games while Mitsch's dropped to two games back by taking only two of three from Ideal Billiards. Mitsch's led the teams with 2836 while Bissman's had a single game of 993.

Earle Troll was the only other man to crack the 600 mark as he burned up the Westinghouse A league with 198-189-221—608.

J. Maurer was runnerup with 558 while H. Young had 557. Close behind were: R. Wolfgang, 554; Kudilka, 547; Mertz, 54[illegible] Schnittke, 538 and G. DeWeese, 531.

Denny Berry of Home Interiors set the pace in the Victory league with a 194-189-181—504 mark. L. Schafer of ICOF was runnerup with 538 followed by Earl Wentz, 533; Tom Forrest, 52[illegible]; Ira Hesson, 521, and Ray Boor, 504. Hessons 239 single game was easily the best of the night.

Ideal Panel and Tony's Canfield both missed a chance to take the league lead as each won two of three games. Tony's had the high team total, 2442, while OSR's 921 single game was the best in that department.

Paul Zartman jr. was the individual leader among Isaly's bowlers as he posted 191-171-154—516. Hildebrand was runnerup with 511 while Swan was in third spot with 458.

★

Three women went above 400 in the Dominion Electric circuit. Nellie Bonecutter turned in a 442 while Sis DeWeese had 420 and Gladys Indorf, 406. Eileen Swank had 386.

★

The Westingnouse B league rolled at Richland Recreation with R. McGregor in the van at 532. C. Penrose posted 507, F. Beal turned in 495, W. Warren 494, and B. Edmonds, 482.

Laurel Alt was the leader in the St. Peter's Alumni loop with 525. Ray Dillon had 495, Tom Tipul, 482 and Jerry Dillon, 484.

Martha Dye and Elnora Kanz led the Richland Ladies loop with a pair of 503 series. Other good scores included Peg Shoup's 479, Helen McCracken's, 478 and a pair of 465's by Hon Wehinger and Reba Siler.

Players Ask Big Bowl Cut

TUCSON, ARIZ.— (UP) — University of Arizona football players have demanded $175 apiece for playing in the New Year's day salad bowl game, a source close to the squad told the United Press today.

Unless the demands are met, the team will refuse to play in the Phoenix, Ariz., game against Drake.

The squad reportedly voted unofficially to ask for 40 shares which would amount to $7,000, more than half of the $12,500 guarantee given the university by bowl sponsors.

Player money demands reportedly were prompted by the fact that many contended they would work during the Christmas holidays if they did not practice for the game.

Stolen Fur Recovered

A $185 silver fox scarf stolen from Klein Furs, 43 North Mulberry street, early in November has been recovered by Columbus police.

Detective William Colby traveled to Columbus yesterday to interview two indicted shoplifters, John Matthews and William Collins, in connection with possible thefts in Mansfield.

Columbus police said the pair were involved in thefts in more than a dozen Ohio communities including Mansfield.

Today, Andrew Klein, and Detective Howard Schuck are in Columbus so that Klein can make a positive identification of the fur piece.

Meanwhile, Columbus police indicated that other arrests were in the offing in connection with the shoplifting ring. They did not disclose whether the two men now held, or a third man held in Chillocothe, Arthur Hill, or the to-be arrested persons were involved in any other Mansfield thefts.

Do You Believe You Save By Selling Your Own Property

YES, you do! That is you save the REALTORS commission. BUT WAIT. Let's look further.

ARE YOU SURE you are pricing the property in line with today's market?

CAN YOU clinch the sale and expedite it by helping your purchaser get the loan he needs?

CAN YOU afford to devote the necessary time to working out all the legal and technical details?

MAYBE—and it might pay you to investigate—our 12 years devoted to doing all these things would actually net you more.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Pacific Alliance Discussed

Three Powers Consider Action

PARIS —(INS)— United States officials are discussing the possible creation of a Pacific security pact with France and Britain to stem the rising tide of communism in Asia.

Reliable sources disclosed today to International News Service that the discussions were initiated by the two European states, both of whom have large colonial empires in southeast Asia.

It was said that the view prevails in high British quarters particularly that unless the triumphal march of communists across China is stopped, all of Asia will fall under Soviet domination.

The success of the Chinese communists is already having an effect in French Indo-China, the Dutch East Indies, and British Malaya. In Burma, communists have been battling for months. Siamese leaders are known to feel that their country is now more seriously threatened by communists than at any time in recent history.

Two possible courses of action are being discussed in western diplomatic quarters. One is the building up of India and Japan as bastions against the further spread of communism. The second is creation of a Pacific security pact along the lines of the Atlantic pact model.

Both plans of action could be undertaken simultaneously.

British circles fear that unless something is done to create effective political, economic, and military dikes against the flood of communism, the Soviets may be tempted to take risks in supporting widespread insurrections.

Some leading British statesmen believe that the necessity of such a pact will assume paramount importance in western diplomacy if the communists gain control of all of China.

Tojo Leaves 'Peace' Note

TOKYO — (INS) — A Buddhist priest disclosed today that Hideki Tojo has left a "peace" message for the world and is "grateful" that Gen. Douglas MacArthur has proclaimed a "day of prayer" on the date of the war crimes executions.

The priest Nobukatsu Hanayama, said that Japan's "Pearl Harbor premier" has dictated a last message to him pleading to the world for peace and emphasizing the futility of war.

Hanayama said he will release the text of the message after the executions of Tojo and six other war criminals take place.

The hangings of the seven condemned major Japanese war makers have been delayed pending action on appeals before the United States supreme court.

Hanayama told International News Service that Tojo, awaiting execution in Tokyo's Sugamo prison, "is now a completely changed man."

Willard Has Curfew Law

WILLARD — A curfew for minors under 16 years of age went into effect here Tuesday night. Each night a warning siren will sound at 10 15 p m. with the final one following in 15 minutes.

Mayor Ray A. Snook said violators will be arrested and they and their parents will be subject to fines not exceeding $5 and costs.

The city ordinance states it is unlawful for any minor under 16 to be on the streets, alleys, railroad grounds, or to be loitering about the depot, public halls or other places in town after 10:30 p. m. and before 5 a m. unless accompanied by an adult.

Mayor Snook explains the ordinance does not apply to minors engaged in lawful employment after 10:30 p. m. or before 5 a. m , nor to minors returning directly home from school activities.

1,500 Get Free Bus Rides As Ashland Lines Opened

ASHLAND — Inauguration of city bus service here yesterday brought out 1,500 riders. Passengers were carried without charge during the day over the four routes

Children took advantage of the free rides and converged on the library and downtown drug stores as other stores and offices were closed as usual on Wednesday afternoon.

Cash fares are effective today and until tokens are introduced The Ashland Transit Lines, Inc , operated by two veterans, has a 20-year franchise The buses start from two designated stops at the corner of Main and Center streets and stop at every intersection in the residential areas. Each bus makes a "factory loop" through the industrial section.

Bus service is expected to ease the downtown parking and traffic problems by making it unnecessary for so many private cars to use the area. Ashland's rapid expansion in recent years has put many parts of the city outside walking distance to the business and industrial areas.

Only one unhappy incident was reported by the weary drivers at the conclusion of yesterday's jam-packed trips A window in an exit door was broken

The bus line has one new bus and a used bus on the runs, with a third used bus as a standby in case of breakdowns. Four routes are covered, each bus covering two routes each hour

Alaska Talk Given Club In Bucyrus

Kiwanians Told Of Resources

BUCYRUS — Chance Dewalt, Crestline attorney and world traveler, described the beauties and natural resource potentialities of Alaska in a talk this week before the Bucyrus Kiwanis club.

The Crestline attorney declared if the "Pilgrims had landed on the shores of Alaska instead of New England, they would have been better off economically and agriculturally"

He stated the country's natural resources are almost unlimited but its location makes its vulnerable to possible enemy attack, its western-most tip being only 50 miles from Russian territory.

Although Alaska has 65,000 miles of tillable land, only 500 miles of it are under cultivation at present, Mr Dewalt stated.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

PAGE FOUR MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1948

The New York legislature has been offered a bill which would prohibit any establishment from selling both gasoline and liquor . . . so as to prevent them being mixed right there.

Word from Washington is to the effect that hotel windows overlooking the route of the inaugural parade may rent for as high as $250 — which will scarcely be mistaken for democracy in action, unless spelled with a capital "D."

Lawlessness Goes On Rampage

MANSFIELD residents who are accustomed to regard this as a reasonably well-behaved city are justified in having a disturbed feeling over recent occurrences which indicate growing disregard for law in this community.

Yesterday's reports of a wave of thefts and burglaries, with one hold-up at gunpoint, evidence a trend which—unless halted—will give Mansfield the unenviable reputation of being a dangerous place in which to live, instead of the law-abiding city a majority of its people naturally prefer.

Five months have now passed since that bomb explosion in the rear of a South Park street cafe, and the same elements responsible for that vicious act are apparently still on the loose in Mansfield, with every prospect of more and more crimes of violence unless some way is found to trace the source of such outlawry and mete out punishment to offenders.

It is very generally recognized that commercialized gambling is intimately associated with other forms of underworld activity, and the appearance of agreement between local law enforcement officials and promoters of various gambling rackets seems fairly regarded as a contributing factor in the flouting of other laws.

It is a strange attitude of Mayor Roy W. Vaughn and Chief of Police Jesse J. Schwab that they take it upon themselves to decide that state and city laws against commercialized gambling should be ignored—in fact that wide-open gambling places be given the "green light" after having been banned for two months during the early part of this year, by order of Police Chief Schwab—sanctioned by Mayor Vaughn.

Source of the under-cover pressure or inducements that led to this reversal of position can only be guessed, in the absence of the sort of investigation that has been effective in some other Ohio cities in which there was a hook-up between law enforcement officials and gambling racketeers.

Anyhow, as Mansfield moves toward a condition of lawlessness which jeopardizes lives and property, it may be hoped that public awakening will not await some major crime to shock the community into demanding that employed officials perform their sworn duties.

Higher Postal Rates Effective Soon

THE INCREASED postage rates approved by Congress last summer will go into effect for most kinds of mail Jan. 1. Exceptions will be regular first class letters and post cards, the rates for which will remain the same. Second class rates also will be unchanged, but that means little to the individual.

No doubt the application of these higher rates, with recollection of other increases since the days of the two-cent letter, will lead to discussions of the fact that the post office department always seems to be losing money, for one cause or another. This time the increased rates are to help meet the cost of higher pay for postal workers.

It would be wrong to conclude that deficits indicate poor management in the post office department. There is at least one poor business practice, but nobody in the department can do anything about it. This is the free mailing privilege for government agencies and officials.

If postage were paid on all the great volume of material mailed out by congressmen and government bureaus, the post office department would show a tidy profit. Moreover the volume of government mail might decrease if allowance for postage had to be provided in agency budgets and congressional pay.

Plenty of Good Books For Children

ASSOCIATED with the discussion of "comic books" which are recognized as being objectionable reading matter for children, it is now being suggested that more emphasis be placed on directing the attention of young folks to the vast amount of juvenile literature available at book stores and in the public library.

A child with an innate love of reading may devour any form of printed matter that comes his way. If constructive types of reading are not found in his home, he reads whatever he finds on the tables and bookshelves, or wherever he may look. The more active non-reading child is attracted by bright colors and pictures portraying simple action. There is an abundance of well illustrated children's books, with a minimum of text, which fill this need.

Parents who supply their children with a variety and abundance of good reading material, and teach them how to find it in libraries and book stores, are providing the best antidote for undesirable comics. The public library stands ready to fill in the gaps between the parents' purchases and to advise on their selection.

The certain way to keep a child from being influenced by bad reading is to lead him into the delightful paths of good reading.

Which Spends Most For Clothes?

NO HUSBAND has been willing to believe the labor department statement that in the average city household the husband spends more money on clothes than his wife. The cost of arraying him runs from $128 to $159 a year; she walks in beauty at a cost ranging between $111 and $139. Or so says the department.

She buys a heavy wool coat every four years, and four dresses and three pairs of shoes a year. He gets one heavy wool suit every three years, and five shirts and two pairs of shoes a year. Nothing is said about hats.

Most people get the impression, which perhaps they are meant to get, that the lady of the house has lots of clothes. Probably that is because she makes changes in her garb more often, while the man is content to stick to a limited variety of daily appearance. Women, too, revamp old dresses to look new. Men's suits are not so flexible

Clevelanders are much elated over the fact that their magnificent stadium showed a net profit of $2 for the past season—and even this leaves no grounds for suspicion of profiteering.

As Has Been Suggested Before.

Congress In Tough Spot

By THOMAS L. STOKES

WASHINGTON — Analyze the November election as you will—and the analysis still is going on—it is generally recognized that one factor in the Truman victory was the ready-made issue and target that Republicans handed the President in the 80th Congress that they controlled and managed.

As a result, Congress itself has come under close analysis since the election, not just the 80th Congress, but Congress as an institution and why it fails so often to be responsive to and reflect the public will.

This is now, and for the immediate future, a problem for the Democrats. Some of them already are giving thought to reforms in the procedures of Congress, for if the administration's program falls down in the next two years, then Democrats may face the same trouble Republicans did this year.

Republicans, too, are taking a close look, for this is a long-range problem. They are conscious how much a part their record in the 80th Congress played in their defeat.

During the campaign President Truman dramatized one road-block that thwarts the public will when he pointed out how the seniority system, under which committee chairmen are selected purely and automatically on the basis of longevity of service, had brought to the top in Republican management of Congress men whom he called "mossbacks." They reflected, he said, a bygone era and blocked progressive legislation needed today. His indictment was accurate.

It may take some time to find a solution to the seniority problem, as explained here recently, though it surely should be made a part of the administration's program for the next Congress.

* * *

That "Rules Committee."

BUT THERE is another road-block that could very well negate the Truman election victory, or considerably minimize it, about which something can be done immediately. A movement already is underway, as a matter of fact.

This road-block is the House rules committee. Though ostensibly a procedural committee, it has arrogated to itself the power to legislate on occasion pigeonholing bills presented to it in a routine way for a "rule" for consideration by the House, as to date, time for debate, and so on.

All such bills presented for a "rule" have already been thoroughly considered and approved by the proper legislative committee of the House. This committee is invariably composed of veteran members, a majority of them very conservative.

It was the rules committee that pigeonholed the Taft-Ellender-Wagner long-range housing bill in the last Congress and refused to let the House vote on it, though the Senate had passed the measure and the House banking and currency committee, the appropriate legislative committee, had approved it.

This high-handed, arbitrary action certainly was an influence in the Democratic election victory. It must have affected the votes of many veterans.

A move now underway to remove this veto power of the rules committee is promising because it has bi-partisan sponsorship.

The proposal is to require the rules committee to consider within [illegible] two weeks, requests from legislative committees for House consideration of bills they had approved, and vote "Yes" or "No." This decision then would go to the House for a vote to sustain or reject the rules committee. Thus the rules committee would be prevented from sidetracking or burying bills.

Washington Calling

Trying Out Television

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WE HAVE a new television set at our house. Whether it is just another complex toy or the revolution in entertainment and communication that many proclaim it to be, we haven't yet been able to decide.

No one can doubt the potentialities. They are breath-taking. But then, so were the potentialities of radio and too often they seem to have been drowned in the strident laughter of studio audiences cued to respond to the umteenth repetition of a joke that wasn't very good the first time it was used.

Much of what comes over television today is radio with sight added. That is, to be sure, pretty startling.

For the most part, however, the kind of imagination required to take advantage of this amazing new technology has not yet been forthcoming. Or it may be more accurate to say that the viewer (we need a whole new vocabulary) sees little evidence of it.

Yet I am inclined to believe that the revolution is already in progress. Here is a small bit of documentation pointing in that direction.

The other day I met a pair of television fans. Their experience, I would guess, is typical of what is happening to thousands of people and what will happen in the next two to four years to millions.

This husband and wife live in a Pennsylvania town of about 50,000 which is 100 miles from Philadelphia. There is no television station in the town.

Sustained Interest.

LAST SPRING Mr. and Mrs. Jones became convinced, from the experience of a tavern keeper in their town, that they could get television from a distance of 100 miles. They went to Philadelphia to buy a set and there they were told not to waste their money, since the receiving range was at the outside 25 to 30 miles.

They persisted and last May a set was installed in their home, the first set in any home in the town. On one channel the image comes through as clearly and as distinctly as it does in Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. Jones having made careful comparisons on visits to the city.

They, too, had thought it might be just a novelty of which they would soon grow tired. But seven months have gone by and they are just as eager to get into the living room after supper as they were the first week.

And here comes the revolution. In the seven months they have had their set, they have gone to the movies twice. Normal for the pre-television era was about three times a month, or 21 times against two times.

Both on the technical and the program side, television is a squawling infant. But like the horseless carriage, it seems to be here to stay and it promises to work undreamed-of changes in our way of life.

We, the public, have it within our power to shape this instrument for good or evil if we will only voice our likes and dislikes and voice them vehemently. Mere passive acceptance of whatever comes along is certainly not enough.

Dave Boone Says:

MME CHIANG KAI-SHEK is here to appeal for more help to save China and I guess we all wish it wasn't such a tough job to take on. The Chinese have known nothing but war for a generation and that is enough to stir pity, no matter who's to blame.

The lady has a way with her and I look for plenty of drama and color during her visit, win, lose or draw.

Yankee Doodle, who originally came to town with a pony and a feather in his cap, is expected by everybody to come to town with a mint and the Army, Navy and Air Force these days. And he's a big-hearted guy who would like to do it.

Just how far he can go without losing the original pony and having little left but the feather is the big headache.

Madame Chiang Faces An Uphill Battle

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Madame Chiang Kai-shek, now 56 but still beautiful, is the victim of a difficult Chinese circle.

In China she is unpopular because she is considered too pro-American. Yet she remained powerful because she was able to wangle munitions from the USA. When American munitions were found in the hands of the Japanese and later the communists, however, the flow stopped, and with this stoppage Madame Chiang's popularity dropped—in both the United States and China.

Today she is embarked on a frantic, hopeless mission to woo back the Chinese supply line.

Her only asset in this lobbying battle is charm. Of this she has ample, though her effectiveness has been tarnished by tales of highhandedness and extravagance during previous trips to the USA.

The American public has heard, among other things, about the rudeness of her official family when entertained in the White House during the latter years of the Roosevelt regime. At that time Madame Chiang's niece, Miss Kung, objected to the sheets, picked up the telephone and tried to call Cordel Hull to lodge a personal complaint.

There was also Madame Chiang's mysterious flight to Brazil toward the end of the war, allegedly to cache some jewelry; plus the lavish way she lived in New York hotels while pleading for money for starving China.

All these have dimmed somewhat the American people's once great enthusiasm for the Wellesley graduate who married the president of China.

* * *

Troubles in China.

IF MADAME CHIANG has had her troubles in the United States, however, they are nothing compared to her troubles in China. In the first place she is younger than a brilliant and important sister and brother. And in China the youngest is supposed to rank last.

The fact that marriage to the president of China elevates the former Mayling Soong to be the first lady of the land does not at all help her position with the rest of the family. In fact it rankles.

Madame Chiang and her brother, T. V. Soong, are scarcely on speaking terms. Both were in Washington during one important period of the war, but scarcely exchanged a word together. Once the Chinese ambassador had to remain at his home to take a phone call from Madame Chiang, which caused him to be late for dinner at the home of her brother. Whereupon he was kept waiting a full hour and a half in an anteroom until all other guests had finished eating.

Mayling's older sister is married to Dr. H. H. Kung, former minister of finance, and one of the wealthiest men in China. While the Chinese have starved, he has kept his millions.

Another sister, Madame Sun Yat-sen, is the widow of Dr. Sun Yat-sen, founder of the Chinese republic. Though now considered the Martha Washington of China, it is no secret that Madame Sun is openly sympathetic to the so-called communist armies which her brother-in-law is fighting. Also no secret is Madame Sun's romance with a former American Army officer, Gerald Tannenbaum of Baltimore.

No love is lost between Madame Chiang and Madame Sun. The former supports her husband's right-wing labor association while Madame Sun, long the champion of Chinese guerrillas and coolies, has appealed to American labor leaders to support China's left-wing CIO.

* * *

Childless Mayling.

ONE tragedy of Madame Chiang's life is that she is childless. As long as she bears the generalissimo no progeny, popular sentiment is with him when he goes to another wife. Madame Chiang is wife No. 3, and for a time her husband went back to wife No. 2. That was one reason why she came to the USA during the war.

The Chinese war lords, who frequently call the tunes for the generalissimo, have tolerated Mayling partly because of her friendships in Washington. As long as she delivered munitions, she stood well with them.

But even before General Marshall went to China as special U. S. ambassador, we had come to realize that U. S. arms, badly needed at the European front, were finding their way into Japanese hands.

Many Chinese war lords, having graduated from the Japanese West Point, had much in common with the Japs, saw no percentage in fighting them. General Marshall last week revealed to friends that the Allied front against Italy was delayed six months because of the airplanes he diverted to China in wartime.

Today the same thing is happening — except that American arms now go to the communists, not the Japs.

Actually the real people of China do a great job of fighting—when they are fed. Under the war lords, however, Chinese troops are never fed, must forage and loot for themselves.

'Different' New Orleans

By KENNETH L. DIXON

NEW ORLEANS — "Do not misunderstand me," said Mayor Chep Morrison, "We still love the Mardi Gras, our good food and that certain something that seems to make New Orleans a "different" city. We are not shooting tourists in the streets!"

Not, it should be hastily added, that anyone had even accused the young mayor or his administration of knocking off any stray outlanders who might wander into the French quarter, for instance, particularly if their pockets were filled with spendable scratch.

Unquestionably, there is nothing the inhabitants of the New Orleans French quarter like better than the appearance of a stranger with spending money, plus the willingness to part with it, of course, or as young Mr. Morrison so delicately put it:

"We realize the value of our picturesque French quarter . . ."

Obviously the only news about the foregoing is that the mayor should have had cause for saying it at all, paraicularly since he was conversing with a bunch of newspapermen who were not born yesterday, or even the day before.

Nevertheless, he did, and this is why:

For an extended period, hizzoner had been holding forth on the subject that New Orleans, once proudly known as "The City That Care Forgot," now cares a great deal, especially about its economic future—a subject which once was not discussed before ladies in these parts, suh!

* * *

Emphasis On Business.

OCCASION for the confab was the gathering of a number of citizens from all parts of the world for the dedication of the city's International Trade Mart — the latest development in an extensive New Orleans program aimed at attracting world trade through its historic port.

Technically speaking, this 20th century international program got under way some eight years ago, when the citizenry gradually aroused to the fact that no city can coast forever "on the glories of the past," to quote Morrison.

The first thing they did was amputate politics from the board of port commissioners, the state agency which administers the port of New Orleans. After that, things started moving.

Half a hundred business and professional leaders around town came up with the idea of International House—which remains today one of the most famed successful ventures in the combined field of foreign relations and world trade. Its purpose was more or less to link, economically, linguistically and socially, the vast Mississippi valley with the rest of the world.

It soon developed into a recognized international center, and plans for the second, and more openly economic, step followed. Almost the same group of men engineered the construction of the International Trade Mart, which is merely a mammoth market place, exhibiting and demonstrating all kinds of products for domestic and foreign buyers.

There have been other steps, including the foreign trade zone in the port of New Orleans and the internationalizing of the huge Moisant airport. And there are still more world trade promotion plans in the mill.

Theme of the entire program, as Morrison stressed, is far from being "moonlight and magnolias." It is business—perhaps warm blooded, but still hard headed—and it is aimed at competitive economic advancement, not only of New Orleans but also of the vast Mississippi valley wedge whose myriad products may well funnel down through these international sea and airports.

Domestically, the program has departed to some extend from the ancient tradition of the so-called "gracious way of life" as applied to a small handful of people, for it deliberately sets out to create a large and comparatively independent middle class income bracket.

Simultaneously, less emphasis is being placed on the historic and picturesque phases of the erstwhile "Paris of America" and more stress laid on its economic importance to the country and to world trade. The potential trader is wooed with more vigor than the casual vacation visitor.

But not entirely. As Mayor Morrison said, they're not exactly "shooting tourists in the streets!" —even yet.

One Man's Opinion

—By WALTER KIERNAN

SEVERAL cases of high blood pressure and insomnia have been traced to tax dodging . . . Until now high blood pressure had been believed to result from tax p a y i n g.

One man couldn't sleep until he had confessed his tax evasions . . . I hear now he sleeps all night, wakes at five and is out of his cell by six.

* * *

But eventually we will have a new type of federal cop: part tax analyst, part psychoanalyst . . . His job will be to see that you're solvent if not sane.

* * *

Of course none will know whether the young fellow starting medical school is going out for a sheepskin or taxpayer's.

But it's interesting to know that as many people are sleepless because of their money as the lack of it.

Words of the Wise

First we shall want the pupil to understand, speak, read and write his mother tongue well—H. G. Wells.

Education is the only cure for certain diseases the m o d e r n world has engendered, but if you don't find the disease, the remedy is superfluous.—John Buchan.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

The earth's population is said to have doubled in the last century.

Timely Editorial

Anticipating Crime.

Something new in the attitude of the cop on the beat is foreseen if a motorist in Sterling, Ill., is successful in his $10,000 suit against the police of that city.

This gent got himself liquored up, and a couple of officers, probably just trying to be good fellows, sort of said, "Tut, tut," to him and let him go on his way. The upshot was that he got involved in an accident, and now complains that if the police had done their duty and tossed him in the clink, he wouldn't have smashed up his car.

After Justice Frankfurter and his supreme court buddies get through with this one, we're liable to see something unique in the way of legal precedents. It's going to result in a lot of us citizens spending week ends in the hoosegow, not because we've committed a crime, but because we look as if we might.—Akron Beacon Journal.

Farmer's Diary

Springtime Weather

By CALVIN A. BYERS

RECENT rains have amazingly freshened the thirsty soil. Now each lawn has changed from drab seared autumn shade to green as hearty and pleasing as that of spring. All about, earthworm castings are visible. For any self-respecting worm will turn rather than to stay and drown when his burrow is filled with water.

Buds are sollen—even blooming in a few places. Sheltered forsythia bushes think that spring has come. The tips of an early apple tree in our home orchard are showing red. The wheat—we sowed 16 acres four weeks ago—shows the rounds of drilled rows distinctly, from every angle. The rye, in orchard and garden, has lost its reddish tinge and become a verdant green.

Yet, yesterday, riding across the hills toward Loudonville in the pouring rain, we saw great ranks of new-cut Christmas trees with their stem-ends toward the sky. Tomorrow they will be loaded on trucks and hauled into town, where vacant lots will become suddenly clothed in the deep hue of the pine woods, and the scent of the evergreen will spread Christmas cheer wherever people pause to remember it.

Christmas trees are a money-making farm crop, under favorable conditions. They require 5 or 6 years to grow. They demand careful planting and careful letting alone.

It is sometimes possible to plant forests and thin out the trees for Christmas sale—a first step in making the forest pay. Many farms in our locality have steep slopes devoted to plantings of conifers. A few depend upon sale of trees for a part of their regular income.

Varieties well suited to our Ohio section are Austrian Pine, Red Cedar and Norway Spruce. The seedling trees are not expensive—although they demand scientific care in starting them.

The market for Christmas trees is comparatively steady, in all parts of the country. It seems that it might be a good way to utilize marginal land or make a profit from otherwise inaccessible or barren acres. But few people like to wait six years or more for a harvest.

As Others See It

Profitable "Distinction."

We have it on good authority that the poser for a Men of Distinction ad gets $500 and a case of the stuff.—Kansas City Star.

Real Shortage.

A condition has arisen in which you can pick up atomic scientists at $10,000 a year and can't find a big league second baseman for love or $200,000.—Detroit News.

Bethlehem Star to Shine Tonight

The star, unlike the one that guided the wise men to Christ's manger 1948 years ago, will be man-made and electric-powered But Bethlehem's Christmas spirit—the spirit of joy, friendship and charity—has come down through the centuries

For most of the year, Bethlehem is a typical Pennsylvania city, nestled among rolling hills and farm country.

But each Christmas season, Bethlehem takes on an entirely new appearance that few—if any—other cities can equal Towering Christmas trees—some 50 feet tall—blossom with thousands of multi-colored lights

The very foundations of the city are religious.

On their first Christmas Eve in America, in 1741, these Moravians decided to name their little town Bethlehem, in honor of Christ's birthplace and as a symbol of their own "new life"

A Christmas Eve vigil is held each year in the Moravian church Each person holds a lighted candle during the vigil while softly-sung Christmas carols and the fragrance of evergeen fill the church The candles symbolize the coming of light into the world with the birth of Christ

At dawn, a trombone choir in the church tower will once again herald Christmas day Later, the townsfolk will distribute food and toys to the needy

Putz-visiting is another tradition in Bethlehem Almost every household has a putz—or miniature of the original stable Many of the little figures in the putz were hand-carved in Europe centuries ago.

Thousands of persons will visit the city while the celebration lasts—from Dec 2 to Jan. 2

Although Bethlehem's merchants foot most of the bills for the city's decorations and lighting displays, they are extremely careful not to commercialize on it. They prefer to keep it as a Christmas celebration and not a business come-on

This year the twin granddaughters of Mayor Robert Pfiefle have been selected to flip the switch in Zinzendorf square—that will turn on the city's Christmas lights this evening.

'SCIENCE IN OUR TIME' DISCUSSED BY CHAPTER

Panel Discussion Held By Beta Group of Mansfield Sorosis Wednesday at Mansfields.

"SCIENCE IN OUR TIME" was the topic of the discussion of Beta chapter of Mansfield Sorosis at their meeting Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Harold K. Mansfield, Sturges avenue.

The panel discussion was given in four different phases by the members.

Mrs. A. H. Fankhauser discussed "Communication and Travel," telling about a new invention in communication called ultra fax, which can send 1,000,000 words a minute. Mrs Fankhauser said, "In the future we may have a radio mail service."

The second phase, "Science In Our Homes," was given by Mrs H. Eugene Linham She told of the new products being used in houses and household appliances which will not only make them better, but cheaper. "One company is working on a pre-fabricated house which will include furniture and refrigerator for $2,000," she said.

Mrs. Robert W. Wolford pointed out how scientific medicine has given us healthier lives, and she exemplified the various phases of medical practice, these being: preventive medicine, public health measures, industrial medicine, diagnostic measures and therapeutic measures

Mrs Virt A. Simpson talked on "Harnessing Atomic Energy." She said, "The popular impression of cars, boats and homes being powered by small uranium piles could not be further from realty. The reason for this is it would tie up too much material, too cumbersome, and most important than all is, it's dangerous radioactivity."

Twenty-two members were present for refreshments served from a table centered with rust colored mums and tapers Mrs. George Baird presided at the table.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs Ralph McGraw, Helen avenue, with Mrs. T. H. Milliken as associate hostess. The program will be given by Mrs. Robert H. Cole. Mrs. Agnes Paulsen has been invited as the guest speaker for the meeting She will talk on "How to Wrap Christmas Packages Attractively."

Child Study Club Hears Miss Rooney

Twenty-four members of the Child Study club met at the home of Mrs. Fred Forkner, West Third street, last evening, with Mrs. Harold Rauschert as associate hostess. Two guests, Mrs. Virginia Green and Mrs Emmett Casey, a former member, were in attendance.

Mrs. Ruhland Isaly presided for the business session at which time the group voted to sponsor a brownie troop. The mothers' committee for this project is composed of Mrs. Russell Alger, Mrs. Coleman Todd and Mrs. Ted Banks

Miss Margaret Rooney, executive secretary of the Girl Scouts, was the guest speaker, urging the members to take training for Girl Scout leadership.

At the close of the program refreshments were served with Mrs Casey pouring. The centerpiece for the serving table was of white mums and tall lighted red tapers.

A Christmas party was planned for Dec. 21 to be held at the home of Mrs. J. J. Kindel, 435 Davis road. Mrs. Coleman Todd will be the associate hostess for the bridge party and Christmas exchange.

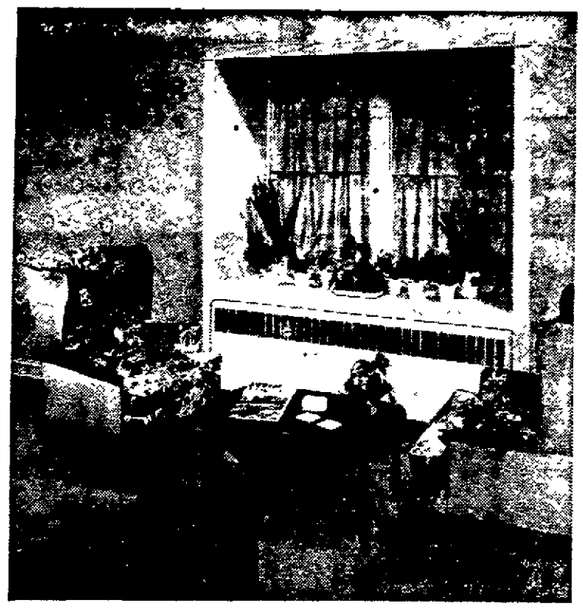
Chapter AT Welcomes One

Mrs. W. M. Taylor, formerly of Marshall, Mo., was welcomed as a new member of Chapter AT, P. E. O. Sisterhood, Wednesday at the home of Mrs. M. M Feaman, Park avenue west She was transfered from Chapter GM. Eighteen members were present for the morning meeting.

The group voted to give gifts and a program to the Hammond Home as their Christmas project. During the program period Mrs. Victor Smith spoke of the author, David Grayson and reviewed his book, "Adventures in Contentment".

The next meeting will be a luncheon at the home of Mrs John Ashbaugh, 764 Woodhill road, Dec. 15, with Mrs. Reese Mills as associate hostess

The annual Christmas tea for members of the Mansfield branch, American Association of University Women, will be held at 4 p. m. next Tuesday, December 7, at the First Presbyterian church. Miss Martha Eckert will be in charge of the program and hostess chairman is Mrs. R. A. Moss. Reservations should be made with Mrs. Carroll Wass not later than 9 p. m. Sunday.



The long, clean lines and distinctive grille of the modern convector radiator, recessed beneath the double windows, form a pleasing background for the arrangement of the coffee table and matching chairs in this attractive room. Where a fireplace is lacking, as in a modern apartment, such a fireplace-like grouping of furniture is effective. By recessing the convector in the wall, complete flexibility of furniture arrangement is permitted without sacrifice of heating comfort.

Christmas Dinner Given For Afternoon Guild Wednesday

THE CHRISTMAS meeting of the Afternoon Guild of St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church was held at the church Wednesday with a covered dish dinner served at 12:30 p. m. Fifty-three members and guests were in attendance for the Christmas program in charge of Mrs. Glen Young.

Mrs. George Keil, guest violinist, played "Silent Night," accompanied by Mrs. J. C. Melchert, who also accompanied group singing of well known Christmas hymns and Mrs. Herman Schaller, who sang "O Little Town of Bethlehem."

Instead of a gift exchange, an offering was taken to supply Christmas gifts for the Old Folks home at Upper Sandusky.

The table decorations for the dinner were evergreens, white candles, berries and Christmas figures. Hostesses were Mrs. Carl Kalstein, Mrs. Peter Herold, Mrs. Fred Heineking, Mrs. W. B. Hill, Mrs. Herman Hoffman and Mrs. Andrew Knapp.

The business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. Ralph Damlos. A report on the thank offering was given by Mrs. Henry Fiedler. The group voted to purchase a Christmas seal bond.

Arrangements were made for poinsettias to be placed on the altar of the church at Christmas. Mrs. Emma Walker, altar chairman, was appointed to take charge of these plans.

Mrs. William Untiet and Mrs. Charles Finigeld were appointed auditors.

A dinner will be served to the Girls' club of the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company Dec. 17, with Mrs. Floyd Schneider and Mrs. George Pfeiffer as co-chairmen. Mrs. Henry Stauffer will head the dining room committee. Mrs. William T. McKee was welcomed as a new member into the organization. The installation of new officers were held in charge of Rev. J. C. Melchert.

Mrs. J. C. Klinger announced that there will be an all day sewing group session on Dec 15. Eleven boxes have been sent from this group for relief and one box to the Children's home at Fort Wayne, Ind.

The next regular meeting of the Guild will take place at 2 p. m. on Wednesday, Jan. 5, at the church.

Builders Bible Club Convenes

The Builders Bible club met yesterday at the home of Mrs Leo Gilbert, 53 Brickman avenue, Eight members were present.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Clayton Frank. Her topic was "Worshiping Idols." The lesson study taken from the Book of Acts, chapter 19, was conducted by Mrs. Paul Mitchell.

The next meeting will be a Christmas tea, Dec. 8, at 1:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Frank, Forest avenue.

The wet sand holds the tree firmly in place and its moisture helps to keep the tree green and resistant to fire. THE probability that a wise and judicious use of the personal equation may compensate for very stubborn obstacles, born of unsound or chaotic judgment, instilled or precipitated by a tricky or crafty undercurrent, in which betrayal and false promises lend confusion or becloud the issue. Fumbling errors due to working in the dark, against subtlety, intrigue or treachery might best be circumvented by wise resort to personality, charm or the social, cultural domestic implements, the "end justifying the means."

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a year in which peculiar difficulties or unfathomable under-currents may nullify practical judgment and impel resort to quite as subtle or intriguing talents or tactics. A deep-seated or curious set of circumstance may seem too inexplicable for logic and may impel a course of action where personal charm or other subtle implements seem justifiable, as the element of duplicity may have domestic, romantic or emotional factors to consider. Defer important decisions for clearer vision and sound action.

A child born on this day may possess rather obscure vision or be swayed by emotions rather than reason. Its personal charm or efficiency may avert complications, personal and business.

Donors Being Sought

Hospital Blood Bank Saves 'RH' Baby

The other day a tiny baby was born at General hospital who, because its blood was of the critical RH negative type, had but one chance in a hundred to live.

Today that baby is still alive and promises to go on living as a normal, healthy child because medical and scientific men have developed the amazing "blood replacing" project for just such babies.

That tiny bit of humanity is alive today because the blood bank at General hospital contained the necessary RH positive blood which would provide life-giving chemicals on which the child could gain strength and live.

A baby with RH-negative blood isn't born every day at General hospital but there are other needs for blood just as drastic as that one. There is an accident. A man is brought to the hospital, desperately in need of a transfusion. His blood is typed and generally it can be found in the bank in the hospital laboratory. Once in a while a search has to be made even with blood on hand.

This week the Red Cross received a call from the hospital asking for immediate replacement of 35 pints of blood.

That many pints, laboratory technicians say, are needed immediately if patients are to be protected.

Mrs. Stuart Weaver, blood donor chairman of the Red Cross, is issuing an urgent appeal for blood donors. Her appeal is being seconded by Wayne A. Copeland, superintendent of General hospital, who said today:

"Our blood bank is very low. No physician on the staff here will start another operation unless the right type of blood is at hand for an emergency. When our bank gets low, then someone has to wait for his operation until the blood is available."

The need for blood donors is an immediate one, says Mrs. Weaver.

"After Dec. 15 the National Red Cross blood donor program gets under way. But from now until then, we must see that the hospital bank is filled. If you are in good health and have been putting off being a doner, don't wait another day. Contact us at Red Cross. We will see that you get your chance to help someone who may later in turn help you," Mrs. Weaver said.

The 66 members elect caucused yesterday and promised a legislative program of their own as they elected O'Neill, who is speaker in the present GOP - controlled House.

The minority Republicans, who will have only three less members than the Democratic majority, also unanimously designated Gorden Renner of Cincinnati as minority whip.

O'Neill was nominated by Rep. J. Frank McClure, of Ashland county.

Casket Makers Vote On Strike

COLUMBUS—(INS)—More than 500 production employes were to go on strike today at the Clark Grave Vault company at Columbus.

The workers, members of United Auto Workers Local 513, voted the walkout last night when rejecting a company offer of 10-cents-an-hour increase retroactive to July 5 on a two-year contract. The union is asking a 25-cent increase.

Comes the Revolution ...make the most of it!

A Special Message to the Public and Automotive Men

by George D. Keller

president, Keller Motors Corporation...
28-year automotive veteran...
former executive of one of the foremost automobile manufacturing companies

"FOR MANY YEARS I've watched America's cars grow larger and more expensive. I have helped to make them that way myself.

"But some time back, I saw a revolution coming, brought about by a public need. And an opportunity for automotive men to make the most of it.

"I foresaw that cars which were once the backbone of the low-priced field would continue their headlong race for more size, more power—until they priced themselves right out of that field. And the result would be no low-priced field—a vacuum that had to be filled or millions of Americans would be car starved for many years to come.

"I saw that this growing need plus modern traffic and parking conditions and operating costs would bring about an inevitable trend toward a car of shorter wheelbase and much lower price. Not a 'midget,' not just a 'second' car mind you, but a sound and solid automobile with a full-size feel behind the wheel. Not just a car to get around in but a car smart enough to 'show off' at the best places, town or country.

"So, many months ago, I began organizing a staff of aero-auto engineers with whom I had worked, whose advanced ideas I knew. And together we got what we wanted—the completely new KELLER—a new breed of car.

"Yes, we got what we wanted. But the big clincher is that right now scientific tests of public opinion prove that we also got what the public wants.

"Recent surveys show that most people want a wheelbase of 90 to 100 inches. The KELLER falls right in that range, at 92 inches.

"Surveys prove that most people want a price range of $750 to $1000. Again, the KELLER falls right in line, with prices starting at $895.

"The New York Sunday News of January 18 backs this trend to its 6,000,000 readers. It shows in its editorial page cartoon what it calls 'The Dream Car.' This dream car is described as '35 miles per gallon—weight 1,800 lbs.—cruising speed 40 m.p.h.—short wheelbase—cost $850 f.o.b.' That is almost a description of the KELLER.

"And that's not all. We now have more than 1150 Keller dealer contracts—which means money and experience saying the KELLER is right. And at every showing, the public is putting its own final stamp of approval on the KELLER.

"We have shown the KELLER to thousands upon thousands of people in city by city clear around the country. The enthusiasm everywhere was tremendous. The desire to buy immediate.

"Yes, we created the KELLER—from drawing board to superb modern motor car. But the people of America may well believe they wrote the specifications. It's got everything they are asking for and more.

"We have at Huntsville, Alabama (leased on terms that hold overhead to an amazing minimum), what we believe to be the best adapted production facilities available. Our models have been road-tested for more than a year—driven not only by engineers, but by thousands of just plain people who took them out, tried 'em, liked 'em, want a KELLER for their own.

"That's our message to the public. And to automotive men, who are looking to the future as well as today—we say—'Want to go places with us?'"

Columnists In General Defended Against Tirade Loosed By Leech

ED LEECH, an editor in Roy Howard's chain, has made a self-accusing but self-excusing pass at some habits which he regards as faults of our daily journalism, which remains, in all, the greatest free press in the world.

Mr. Leech is an old jail-bird who used to get himself locked up for contempt by sassing local judges when he was a brash young circuit-rider on the old Scripps-McRae chain. This fate was not necessarily as painful as you might think because Scripps-McRae editors didn't eat very high on the hog and I sometimes suspected that Ed saved up his impudence until he got to honing for some of that luscious county slum.

I used to laugh back there in the early phases of the New Deal when the bolos circulated propaganda that old man Scripps had been a great, roaring liberal whereas Howard was some kind of tory.

I worked for Scripps all the way from Denver to London and I am telling you he was the tight-fistedest old mangrinder this side of Frank Munsey.

He was, moreover, a boozing, bulldozing tyrant who somehow had us young sprouts on coolie wages believing that we were consecrated to the cause of labor. This emotion which we took for idealism turned to cynicism in every man I knew except Ed Meeman, of Memphis, and our grail when we found it, was only a growler, after all, and empty at that.

Actually Howard was much more liberal than Scripps ever had been. But he was always trying to appease the communists and bleeders by printing their propaganda in more efficient and truculent language than he allowed himself.

I hadn't the wisdom in those early days to detect the wickedness of the Wagner Act, but I learned sooner than he and began pointing at this one and that one in the union rackets and yelling "thief," "murderer" and "brother-keeper" and spelling out names.

Roy used to ask me please to write nice about a clean union some time, but I couldn't find any. I have since heard of two little A.F. of L. unions that are clean, but that is a puny percentage which a chemist would call a trace. Anything so overwhelmingly bad as our unionism is rotten, that's all.

Ed Leech works around to "columnists and so-called experts of all sorts" as the kicking-boys of the recent embarrassment when we all went wrong, including the wife and daughter of Harry S. Truman. And then he takes comfort in the fact that "with few exceptions, editorial opinions were expressed more tolerantly and calmly than on many previous occasions."

In the first place, every prediction, whether by Gallup, Roper or a horse-track handicapper, is only a fallible opinion based on information carefully weighed.

There are degrees of wrongness, however, and those who picked Dewey were wrong by only 40,000 votes, which, nicely placed in Ohio and Illinois, would have given him 53 more electoral and Truman 53 fewer. They were wrong by one-tenth of one per cent, or 40,000 in forty million.

I deal in news as an initiative reporter and in the interpretation or application of such information. Much of my news has disclosed corruption, brutality and communism in unions, graft by member of the White House circle and the mental condition of Wallace. The explanation of this sudden moral inventory and decision to repudiate "columnists" seems to be that the news got too hot to handle. They are afraid Truman will be a Huey Long in the White House and send Tom Clark after them.

Personal Triumphs Mark New York Theatrical Season for This Year

TYPEWRITER DOODLING

The theatrical semester has the usual quota of clicks and clucks, but it's been a wow season for personal triumphs. Among those who have romped away with medals are Bolger, Mary McCarty, Tallulah, Bobby Clark, Rob't Morley, Margaret Phillips, Madeleine Carroll and Jose Ferrer. . . . Variety reports critic Atkinson has endorsed the idea of matinee openings—to avoid the premiere silk-and-sable delinquents. Might be a good plan. . . . Incidentally, Percy Hammond once came up with the best size-up of first-nighters. He called 'em "the Ku Klux of the Drama." . . . Oh, this is getting monotonous! The damb Hooper has gone up again—to 27.7.

B. Crosby (Hollywood's reply to Fort Knox) will garner a mere 400s for 6 perfs in London. If British producers can toss shillings around so generously—it's hard to believe things are tough in Bevinville...

Senor Sinatra's chanting of "Siesta" via "The Kissing Bandit" is a vocal fiesta....What'll they dream up next? Thrush Cass Franklin's recording of "Miserlou" is in Greek.....Bandleaders try to show how versatile-shmersatile their crews are by transforming them into off-key glee clubs. Let 'm stick to tootling... No wonder the "Joan of Arc" electric billboard is a B'way signsation. It's 8 stories high and a block long. Great for gapers.

Those giveaway announcers gargling lengthy loot lists create king-size lulls. They're about as listenable as train announcers ....Egad, now they've turned Lassie into a comic. One episode in "Hills of Home" has the pooch playing for laughs—and getting 'em.

Miguel Rooney is one of the few Hollywondites whose personal appearances don't cause stage-frightmares. The talented dynamo gives you an entertaining act, by golly....A batch of zany spoofs have tumbled off Celluloidia's assembly belt recently. Not one comes close to the terriflick in that category: "It Happened One Night."

Nothing more eye-filling than the sight of a zooming plane in Technicolor. Look at the battle episodes in "Fighter Squadron" and see what we mean....Here's a hearty salute and a hug for the show folks who are proving they haven't short memories: We refer to the entertainers who are still visiting vet hospitals minus fanfare. That, citizens, is patriotism.....If Bobby Clark's warbling of "I've Got the President's Ear" doesn't give you guffaws—have yourself X-rayed and see if your funnybone is missing.

A good illusion-shatterer for stagestruck youngsters is witnessing performers in B'way movie temple stage shows knocking themselves out of sparse mid-week matinee audiences that greet them with a smattering of applause or silence. That's the type of experience that turns entertainers into troupers.

Gee whiz screen toughie Alan Ladd's middle monicker is Walbridge. Pod'n his hoisted pinky.. With the Yuletide season just a few shopping sprees away, a string of new Santa songs is rolling out of loudspeakers. None is as hummable as the ever-lovin' "White Christmas."

Hinterland nonsensors are putting knots in the "Rope." That film is a facsimile of a murder case that was on every front page some years ago....Paul Muni's Rembrandt greasepainting on telesee gives you an idea of the fine things that medium is capable of achieving.....Look mag's photos of skating champ Barbara Ann Scott in a swim suit provide the Look of the Month. She doesn't need skates to cut a pretty figger...The world pushes the Jews around for 20 centuries and nobody's perturbed. The Jews push the Arabs around for 20 minutes and the UN screams blue moider!

File Action As Result Of Wreck

Parents of Rail Worker Ask $15,000

The parents of a 25-year-old man killed in the wreck of a New York Central passenger train at Shiloh in June, 1947, today sued the railroad for $15,000.

The action was brought by Nelson Brockwell, as administrator of the estate of his son, James Lewis Brockwell. Brockwell's petition says he is bringing the action on behalf of himself and his wife, Nellie.

The younger Brockwell was employed as a laborer by the railroad and was on his way to the bunking houses where he lived when the wreck occurred, the petition states.

The plaintiffs charge the railroad was negligent. The petition says the engineer operated the train into and upon the cross-over switch at a speed in excess of 70 miles per hour when crossing over from the eastbound to the westbound track.

This caused the train to be derailed, striking and killing Brockwell who was walking along the tracks, the petition contends. William A. Calhoun represents the plaintiffs.

Five other men, including the engineer and the fireman of the train were killed in the wreck June 26, 1947.

Seal Sale Nets $5,287

The sale of Christmas seals netted the Richland County Tuberculosis association $5,287 in the first week, Mrs. H. C. Brokaw, county seal sale chairman, said yesterday.

The first week returns offer encouragement that the $14,500 quota will be reached before the end of the sale Dec. 25, Mrs. Brokaw said. The quota is the minimum needed to carry on the tuberculosis association's expanded 1949 program, she explained.

If the quota is reached, Mrs. Brokaw pointed out, the association will be able to offer the following new services to county residents: free mass X-rays, health education, and rehabilitation.

To spur the sale of seals a short movie starring Ingrid Bergman will be shown in five Richland county movie theaters, Mrs. Margaret Adams secretary of the association, said.

The show will be held in the lobby of the "Y." The Chess and Checker club has extended an invitation to anyone interested in the game to attend. George W. Biddle and John Fike are in charge of the program.

Offers Dog Tags Dec. 10

Auditor Announces Annual Sale Opening

Dog tags for 1949 will go on sale in his office Dec. 10, County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe announced today.

Within the next few days, cards to be filled out and returned to his office will be mailed to dog owners of record, Wolfe said. He said the tags would be mailed on receipt of the card and the necessary fee.

Dog license for males and spayed females cost $1; for females, $3; and for kennels, $10. There's a penalty of $1 after Jan. 20. All dogs over three months of age must wear tags.

Last year there were 7,010 licenses purchased. That's a decline of 142 from the previous year when tags for 7,152 dogs were purchased.

Ask Court For Strike Ruling

COLUMBUS—(INS)—The Franklin county common pleas court was expected to rule today on a request by the strike-bound American Zinc Oxide company in Columbus, to limit pickets to one man at each of its four gates.

Company officials also asked the court to order removal of a tent near the plant's main gate, which has served as strike headquarters. Simultaneously, the company filed contempt of court citations against five members of the striking International Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union.

Those named were local President Boysie Bown, international Representative Robert Holloway of East St. Louis, Rossie Younger, Harlen Pettway and James Abington, all of Columbus.

Area Scouts Attend Court

The Mansfield district of Boy Scouts will hold a Court of Honor at the Elks home at 7:45 p. m. today.

William Enlow, advancement chairman, will preside over the court.

Twenty-five Scouts are expected to receive merit badges. Thirty-six Scouts will be advanced to Second class and 20 advanced to First class.

Parents and friends of the Scouts will attend the Court of Honor.

Bowden To Talk To Poultrymen

John W. Bowden of 34½ West Arch street, will be guest speaker at a meeting of hatchery and flock owners at Suffield next Wednesday evening.

Bowden will speak on poultry feed nutrition and its importance in producing better "hatchability" and livability in baby chickens.

Amvets Minstrels Score Another Hit

By NITA BRANSON

Mansfield Amvets staged the 1948 edition of their minstrels last night and it topped last year's successful entertainment.

An overflow crowd in John Simpson auditorium laughed throughout the two-hour show which was of near-professional caliber. The performance will be repeated at 8 p. m. today.

The show was snappy, cleverly staged with some good jokes and excellent singing. It was a performance that proved veterans of the city can put aside their work day clothes, garb themselves in exaggerated costumes and become, in short order, some of Mansfield's best entertainers. There were no "duds" in last night's show. It moved swiftly with scarcely a hitch.

It began with the minstrel boys marching onto the stage singing "Suwanee." Keeping time with their rhythm was Richard Turner who did some fancy baton twirling and the end men, C. J. "Connie" Kalbfleisch, Robert Kaser, Frank Heitz, Stan Fox, Bob Miller and Jack Lewis, marching onto the stage from the audience, swinging tambourines.

Garbed in bright green coats with "loud" ties of the same material, the minstrel men swung into their numbers with enthusiasm. The same shade of green was used in the green and white striped outfits worn by the end men. Louis Doerr, interlocutor, sat in the center chair wearing a white satin coat and trousers.

The minstrel boys won the audience from the opening number, and held its attention to the last high note of the "Street Scene" from "Naughty Marietta," sung by Doris Ranck and the Amvet chorus.

STARS REPEAT

At least two-thirds of last year's cast is in the new show. These "professionals" lent the suave, easy timing of their experience to the less practiced minstrel men.

"Connie" Kalbfleisch easily was the star of the minstrel men, with Jack Lewis and Bob Kaser crowding him to the line. Kalbfleisch's "musical reading," a humorous one, brought one of the encores of the show. Lewis did a "take-off" of the renowned band leader, Ted Lewis in the second part of the show.

The second part, which followed a 10-minute interlude of patter by Kalbfleisch and Kaser, was beautifully staged in a cabaret setting, the Treble Choir, with pastel shaded gowns, sang "When You're Away," directed by Mrs. Thurza Hazeltine.

Soloists were Marilyn Little, who sang, "Thine Alone"; Wanda Hess Donnan, whose song was "Falling In Love From Someone"; Don Kirkpatrick, "Gypsy Love Song"; Jack Lewis, in "Just Around the Corner," and Edward DeWitt, who sang, "Without a Song."

The duet by Beverly Wentz, one of the city's young dramatic sopranos, and Don Fatkin, was a highlight of the show. They sang and acted with the ease of two often accustomed to singing together.

Jerome Gentille, who danced last year, again charmed the audience with her dance specialty.

Farmer Wins $60 Action

Lloyd Schaff, of Shelby, won his suit over ownership of a $60 hog house in Common Pleas court yesterday. He elected to take damages, assessed at $60.

Bernard Stiving, of Shelby, R. D. 2, will retain the hog house. The judgment was rendered by Judge Leland R. Rutherford, of Morrow county, acting in the absence of Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch.

Schaff had appealed the case from the court of Justice of the Peace G. W. Armstrong, of Sharon township. In that court, Stiving obtained possession of the hog house through a writ of replevin. Schaff was represented by Attorney H. Eugene Ryan and Stiving by Theodore Lutz.

In a case heard today, George Scholler, Mansfield, R. D. 4, defendant in a $567 suit, was not represented by an attorney, and told the court his side of the controversy.

Scholler and wife, Barbara, are defendants in the action filed against them by Frank A. and Edna Arnold, 131 West First street. The Arnolds claim breach of contract in the sale of an 80-acre farm to the Schollers.

Following the court hearing, the parties retired to attempt to settle the case. The Arnolds are represented by Attorney C. H. Henkel.

ENLISTS IN NAVY

James Lowell Kanable, of Mt. Gilead, has enlisted in the Navy for three years, the U. S. Navy recruiting office in Mansfield announced today. He will be sent to the San Diego naval base.

TRIPLE FEATURE—

Double features have become a common thing in Mansfield theaters, but now something new has been added. The Park theater is going the double-feature one better and offering a "triple feature" to patrons this week-end. Besides the double-feature, the theater has scheduled as an extra attraction the weekly episode of a western serial.

BEGINS FLYING EARLY—

The other day the oldest passengers ever to leave Mansfield by plane took off at the Municipal airport. Now Dr. Russell C. Long claims the title as youngest passenger for his son, Bruce. The newest member of the Long family arrived from Rochester, Minn., with his mother when he was two weeks old. Bruce, who was born in Rochester, is the Longs' second child.

HOPEFUL—

The six-year-old youngster has developed an appetite for T-bone steaks that is disturbing to her dad in these days of high meat prices. Yesterday he gave her 25 cents to buy a lunch at the bazaar at St. Peter's parochial school. She was telling a friend about it with considerable enthusiasm. "We're going to have spaghetti — and maybe T-bone steaks," she explained.

GETS BALL, ANYWAY—

An autographed baseball received today by Lucas Postmaster Hoyt Leiter, an ardent Indian fan, echoed a World Series disappointment. Twenty employes of the Mansfield Post-office were so touched a few weeks ago by a News-Journal story that told of Leiter's inability to get Series tickets, that they personally autographed a well worn ball and mailed it to him in holiday wrappings.

A LA MEXICO—

The Mansfield Public Library has a "south of the border" atmosphere this week. The latest exhibit at the library is a display of examples of Mexican handicraft loaned to the library by Mrs. Ernest Hartman. Among the articles on display are a brightly colored serape or Mexican scarf, silhouettes in color, and carved wooden book ends, small horses, and other wooden objects. One of the pictures on display was made by pasting tiny colored straws on a dark background to form a multi-colored Mexican scene.

Richland 14th In Tax Revenue

Richland county ranks 14th among the 88 counties in Ohio in sales tax revenue so far in 1948, the state treasurer's report showed today.

Sales in the county have produced $1,457,673 in tax revenue, $186,002 more than during a similar period last year.

Tax revenue during the week preceding Thanksgiving climbed to $43,301, nearly $9,000 more than in that week in 1947.

Launch Attack Probe

Police Patrol Strife Area

KALAMAZOO, Mich. —(INS)— Governor Kim Sigler demanded swift justice today for the marauders who descended on Kalamazoo's Shakespeare company plants in military fashion, wantonly destroyed property and attacked workers.

The governor ordered immediate steps toward organizing a one-man grand jury to investigate yesterday's 250-man raid, pledging all state resources to maintenance "of law and order."

State police and Kalamazoo county deputies joined local police in patrolling the area—where a dozen cars were overturned, plant windows were smashed, non-strikers were beaten and factory machinery was damaged.

The factories involved are the Shakespeare Products company, and the Shakespeare company, fishing tackle manufacturers and auto parts.

The CIO called a strike Sept. 7 to enforce demands for contract changes. A wage issue is not an issue.

CLOSE ALL BARS

The Michigan Liquor commission ordered all liquor-dispensing establishments—including private clubs—closed as a further safeguard against mob violence.

Governor Sigler and State Police Commissioner Donald S. Leonard ordered every precaution against a new uprising when they made a hurried flight to Kalamazoo from Lansing and surveyed the destruction.

The raiders bore down on the plants in 30 cars, moving three abreast in tank formation, and systematically carried out their riotous mission in slightly less than an hour and a half.

Police said many invaded the plants and beat up workers who failed to join the United Steel Workers—CIO strike called last September 7.

Kalamazoo Police Chief Howard W. Hoyt said some were from as far away as Indiana.

Authorities will trace ownership of many of the invading cars and the grand jury then will go to work.

Thieves Loot 2 Automobiles

Clothing and auto accessories, valued at a total of $35 were reported stolen from two cars in Mansfield yesterday, police said.

Royal Kirkpatrick, 135 Boughton avenue, reported that his raincoat, valued at $18, and a flashlight, valued at $2, were stolen from his car while it was parked in front of his home between 1 a. m. and 6 a. m. yesterday.

Also reported was the theft of a battery, valued at $15, from the car of Carl Stortz, 279 Home avenue. Stortz said the battery was taken while the car was in the Schroer parking lot on East Temple court between 7:15 and 10:30 p. m.

Police Get 'False Alarm'

Usually it's the fire department that gets the false alarms. But last night the police "got in on the act."

About 1:50 a.m. today the burglar alarm at Gray's drug store on North Main street began clanging loudly. Police hurried to the scene. As far as they could determine nothing was irregular—except the alarm.

Store officials were asked to reset the protection device.

Gives Talk On Radar

John Keto, chief of the aircraft radiation laboratory at Wright field, will speak at a meeting of the Mansfield section of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers at the American Legion in Galion at 7 p. m. next Tuesday.

Keto will discuss "Radar - Its Past and Future." His talk will be divided into three parts, military applications, current and future problems of military applications, and civil applications.

He will illustrate his talk by showing three films on radar.

W. E. Shoupp, manager of the electronic and nuclear physics department, research laboratory, Westinghouse Electric Corporation, East Pittsburgh, Pa., will speak at a meeting in Mansfield Jan. 11. He will discuss "Atomic Energy."

Rent Boost Deadline Jan. 1, Blecker Informs Landlords

The last day landlords can raise rents 15 per cent as authorized by the present rent control law is Jan. 1, George H. Blecker, area rent control officer, warned today.

Under the federal law enacted by the 80th Congress landlords must give tenants a lease through Dec. 31, 1949 before they raise the rent. Such leases must run at least one full year.

However, Blecker pointed out, a lease signed after Jan. 1 would not run the full year of 1949. Therefore the condition for raising rent would not be fulfulled.

If landlards do not act upon rent increases before the first of the year, Blecker said, they will have to wait until a new federal rent law is passed.

During the first 25 days of November the area rent control office collected $700 in refunds, Blecker revealed. About 12 tenants collected refunds. The figure, he said, represents only amounts collected through processes of litigation. Otther refunds were collected directly from landlords by the tenants affected.

Reds Face Tough Job In Shanghai

By JAMES D. WHITE

SHANGHAI—(AP)—They worry here about whether and when the communists will take Shanghai. And, if that happens, what then?

If the communists know Shanghai, they are worrying too.

This is a city of 5,000,000 very rugged individualists who are about as inclined to communism as the New York stock exchange. Business careers begin here for impoverished young men of five or six years, when they enter commerce with a tray of peanut brittle, millet cakes or a dozen tubes of face blackening goo which American marines never got around to using in the war against Japan.

To whom they sell this stuff is a mystery, but it's for sale all over town. These commercial careers continue through various markets—black and otherwise—to the grave.

Trading, and profit taking, is life itself to these people. The communists may think they can regiment them. If so it will be the first time in history.

If the Reds get Shanghai, they'll get a huge, Oriental Brooklyn operating like a brawling fair in a country courtyard.

To one who last saw Shanghai hushed and sullen under Japanese occupation, the change in the city is astounding. Shanghai now is entirely Chinese, with all foreign restraints thrown off.

The police tolerantly watch traffic so crowded and so undisciplined that those who don't jaywalk risk injury by simply obeying signals.

There's another difference—traffic now moves on the right side of the street, or tends to. However, it is only a tendency—so no real harm is done in Chinese eyes. (Oriental traffic formerly moved on the left side of a street.)

Besides the clogged stream of traffic, old women sell shoestrings and long underwear and plastic combs on the steps of skyscraper banks.

The city is rundown, but thoroughly Chinese — and it looks more crowded and busier than ever. Business may be highly inflated, but it is everywhere.

The onetime Paris of the Orient may become a second Moscow, but the communists can be sure of one thing—it won't be easy.

Will Release Young Heiress For Holiday

COLUMBUS —(UP— Phyliss Hockaday, 17-year-old Florida heiress who ran away from home twice to find "someone to love me," was told yesterday she would be released from the juvenile detention home here in time to spend Christmas with her mother.

Home officials said Mrs. Clyde Hockaday of St. Petersburg, Fla., would probably take her daughter home.

Release of the attractive brown haired girl who was arrested in a Columbus hotel was conditioned on the promise that she would be entered in a special school in the east next month. Miss Hockaday, granddaughter of a St. Petersburg ship building company owner, ran away from the home of relatives at Dayton, O., where she had gone to be near her divorced father.

Ditch Job Completed

Work on cleaning out of a 600-foot ditch in the northwesterly section of Shelby was completed Tuesday by the county engineering department. Cost of the work was $400. The ditch runs between North Gamble street and the city limits.

Commissioners Tuesday authorized the cleanout of a 650-foot ditch between South Gamble and South Walnut streets in Shelby. County Engineer Walter E. Rusk said work would start Monday.

Estimated cost of the project, to be done by a contractor, is $230. Half will be paid by the City of Shelby, and the other half by the county.

Commissioners also authorized the engineering department to purchase 1,500 tons of crusher-run gravel from the Bellville Sand and Gravel company, at an estimated cost of $1,400. The gravel is to be used principally for the Ankenytown and Rhinehart roads.

Repairs to an abutment on a bridge on the Bromfield road in Monroe township was approved by commissioners. Estimated cost of the project is $125.

Camels were first put to work in the desert area of Australia in 1840.

Ohio's New Draftees Render Advice to Those Who Follow

FORT KNOX, Ky. — (AP) — Ohio's first contingent of new draftees are getting their first taste of army life here.

They arrived Saturday and from the experience of their first few hours they were prepared to offer a few suggestions to men who have registered and expect to be drafted soon:

Bring only the clothes you'll need for 24 hours. Within half an hour after you arrive in camp, the army will present you with a suit of fatigues and a raincoat. You will be told to send your civilian clothes home. You won't be needing them.

Don't bring any bedding, either. The army takes care of that. Do bring along any musical instrument you like to play.

Bring along your own books, magazines and playing cards for the trip to Fort Knox. You won't have a chance to spend much money en route or during your first few days in camp. You'll get a partial pay of $5 on your third day.

Don't expect to be pampered. There will be a certain amount of hard, disagreeable work to do. Do it cheerfully and your noncoms and officers will be on good terms with you. Try to balk, and you'll find out that even the so-called "new army" can get tough.

The meals won't be bad, but don't be surprised if army cooks don't turn out food the way your mother does. Most of the first group of draftees here were reasonably satisfied with the chow.

Finally, don't be worried that you're going into 21 months of slavery and misery. Generally speaking, you'll find the army will treat you with efficiency and respect, as long as you treat it the same way.

Once he gets up and straightens away, the pheasant flies faster than the grouse.

Michigan, Notre Dame Land Two Players On '48 United Press All-America Football Team

By LEO H. PETERSEN

(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK—The United Press today presents its 1948 all-America, the 11 collegians selected by sports writers and sports broadcasters from all sections of the nation as the finest football players at their positions this year.

Every section of the country is represented with the midwest leading with five players, followed by the far west and southwest with two each and the south and east with one each.

Five of the players came from three of the four unbeaten and untied major teams with the two midwest powerhouses, Michigan and Notre Dame, landing two places each on the first team. California got one berth and only Clemson of the unbeaten Giants failed to capture a place on the mythical eleven.

Notre Dame's all-stars are end Leon Hart and guard William Fischer while tackle Alvin Wistert and end Richard Rifenberg are the Michigan representatives. Jack Jensen was the California player honored.

Leo Nomellini, the 250-pound Minnesota tackle, was the fifth midwest player honored. From the southwest are back Doak Walker, who polled the highest number of votes, and Paul Burris, Oklahoma's star guard. Charles Bednarik of Pennsylvania was the only eastern player to make the team while in addition to Jensen, Stan Heath, Nevada's great back, came from the far west. The south's representative is Charles Justice, the North Carolina backfield ace.

Fischer, Walker and Bednarik are repeaters from the United Press 1947 All-America team. One player who made that club, end George (Barney) Poole of Mississippi, fell back to the second team this year.

Walker polled 2,820 points out of a possible 3,267 while Justice totalled 2,740. Bednarik led the linemen with a total of 2,335 points.

The south dominated the second team with five players—Poole, tackle Al Derogatis of Duke, guard William Healy of Georgia Tech and backs Jack Cloud and John Rauch, from William & Mary and Georgia, respectively.

The midwest landed three second team berths—center Alex Sarkisian of Northwestern; tackle Phillip O'Reilly of Purdue and back Emil Sitko of Notre Dame. Filling out the second eleven were two from the far west, back Norman Van Brocklin of Oregon and guard Rod Franz of California and one player from the east, Dan Foldberg, star army defense end.

The personnel of the team:

End—Hart. Youngest player on the team at 19 and also the tallest at 6 feet, 4 inches, the rangy Notre Dame senior was generally considered the best blocking end in the nation. He caught three touchdown passes but his key blocks were instrumental in the scoring of many others.

End—Rifenberg. The burly sharp-chinned speedster from Saginaw, Mich., was second highest scoring end in the nation with eight touchdown passes snagged out of the 22 he caught for a total gain of 490 yards. He was a standout in the Rose Bowl game against Southern California last New Year's.

Tackle—Nomellini. The giant of the squad at 250 pounds, Nomellini never played high school football, but because a regular in the first game he ever played at Minnesota in 1946, and has been the big bulwark of the line for three seasons. He was switched from guard to tackle by Coach Bernie Bierman this season after he became a more polished performer.

Tackle—Wistert. One of the oldest men ever to play college football, the 32 year old Chicagoan, third in a line of All-America brothers at Michigan, was elected captain of the 1949 Wolverines. Like Nomellini, he was a standout both on offense and defense, despite Michigan's use of the two platoon system.

Guard—Fischer. He is one of the most unrelenting linemen ever to battle for the Irish. He has been one of the few "old school" football players on the gridiron this year, a rough and ready veteran who loves to hit hard and who is durable enough to go 60 minutes without relief.

Guard—Burris, low slung and not too speedy, he was heart broken because he couldn't be a backfield star, but failing to convince the coaches that he could streak for touchdowns, he became instead one of the best linemen ever to play in the midlands.

Center—Bednarik, considered one of the best pro prospects in recent years, he was first choice of the Philadelphia Eagles in the draft and also won the Maxwell club trophy as the year's outstanding player.

Back—Walker. Handsome all-around star of Southern Methodist's Mobile team. Spark plug of the Mustangs he was truly a triple-threater with ability in every thing a back is asked to do.

Back—Justice. Second in the nation in total offense, this little dynamo, smallest player on the squad at 165 pounds, is as spectacular a broken field runner as college football has seen in recent years. He has run up 1,620 yards, 766 in rushing and 854 on passing. He completed 62 out of 122 passes, 12 for touchdowns.

Back—Jensen. He made California click as the nation's standout rushing team with 1010 yards gained for the campaign. He is a breakaway threat every time he handles the ball and many of his touchdowns were scored from far afield. His rushing attempts netted 7.4 yards per carry in 137 attempts.

Back—Heath. Holder of the new all-time collegiate marks on touchdown passes and on yards gained in passes thrown, the sure-fire Nevada star by way of Wisconsin completed 126 of the 222 tosses he made. The records he set were 2,005 for total yards gained by passes and 22 touchdowns on passes.

Mansfield's Dave Templeton, 1948 Ohio State guard and captain, was one of six Bucks to get honorable mention. Others were: Jim Hague, end; Jack Wilson, tackle; Ray DiPierro, guard and Joe Whisler and Jerry Krall, backs.

Mansfield's Joe Miller Makes Second All-Ohio

Bengal Opponents Plentiful On List

Joe Miller, captain of the 1948 Mansfield Senior high school football team, today was placed on the All-Ohio scholastic second team selected by the International News Service.

The strong 185-pound senior halfback had previously gained honorable mention on the United Press list. The Associated Press All-Ohio will be named next week. Miller led the Tygers in scoring with 11 touchdowns and averaged 8.7 yards every time he toted the ball. Joe carried 84 times for 728 yards.

Nine opponents of the '48 Bengals wound up on the first two INS teams. Possibly the best of the bunch were Jim Bailey, Hamilton halfback and Dick Thomas, Martins Ferry end.

A high school coarch could dream and dream and hardly come up with a better football team than the 1948 INS all-Ohio scholastic eleven.

As selected by radio sportscasters, sports editors and coaches, the "dream" eleven has a line in which the lightest man tips the scales at 170.

LEADS BALLOTING

John Colceri, Canton McKinley's great 180-pound halfback, led the balloting and got votes and praise from opponents and proponents alike. He scored 128 points for the bulldogs before he was knocked out with a broken collarbone in the next-to-the last game of the season. He might have made the difference between victory the loss suffered by McKinley to Massillon.

Bailey was the second backfield choice and was described by Hamilton Journal-News sports editor Bill Moeller as "a great and powerful ball carrier and team player as well."

The other two backfield spots in the dream eleven are filled by Jerry Thorpe, the Alliance aviator deceptive runner; and Dick Shuff, the Mr. Vernon flash who scored 108 points in gaining a net of 1030 yards.

Ends on the All-Ohio are Thomas, son of the Martins Ferry football coach, and Bob Grimes, one of the mainstays of the Middletown team that lost only to Hamilton.

MORE LINE VOTES

Nick O'Brovac, Canton McKinley Captain and a 48-minute player, received a greater total of first place votes than did any other lineman. He is teamed up at tackle with Mike Takacs, of Massillon.

Joe Defede, Martins Ferry's 225-pound line mainstay, and Bill Shalosky, of Louisville, were selected for All-Ohio guards a position for which there seemed to be few outstanding nominees.

Bob Kane, of Newark's [illegible]feated Wildcats, nosed out Russ Addison of Alliance for the center post.

Al Brown, Massillon; Babe Calhoun, Middletown and Fred Bruney, Martins Ferry joined Miller in the second team backfield.

NOAC Meeting Is Scheduled In Canton On Sunday

Officials of the Northern Ohio Athletic conference will meet Sunday at 2:30 p. m. in Yant's Cottage in Canton, Augie Morningstar, president of the league, announced today.

In addition to the coaches and athletic directors, band leaders, ticket managers and faculty managers of athletics will attend the session. Morningstar said half-time procedure and percentage of tickets to visiting teams would be two of the most important situations to be discussed Sunday.

The Mansfield athletic director will also try to complete his 1949 football schedule at the meeting. The Tygers have several open dates to fill and would like to card one with a league team. Senior high already has Warren, Massillon, Alliance and Toledo Waite booked for next year. Other NOAC teams are Steubenville and Canton McKinley.

First competition in the new circuit is listed for the 1949-50 school year. School teams must play five league games while other sports will be on a tournament basis.

Three City A Tilts Tonight

The City A basketball league will hold its second session of the season tonight with Urschel Insurance and Rogers Jewelry battling in the feature game at 9 p. m.

Both teams won opening games Monday and the winner tonight will have a good chance of staying near the top during the remainder of the first round.

Yuncker's Sports, the other Monday winner takes on Penn Auto at 8 p. m., while the opening game is between two teams which have not played as yet. Martin Hardware and Richland Beverage will collide in this tilt.

Mansfield Cagers Battle Inexperienced Elyria Five

Mansfield Senior high school will open its 1948-49 basketball season tomorrow night against an inexperienced Elyria quintet on the Elyria court.

Coach Ralph Bauer has only one letterman returning off his 1947-48 quintet which dropped a 59-to-52 decision to the Tygers. The lone monogram winner is Al Struck, husky 6-2 senior, who subbed in last year's tilt. Struck started a few games late in the season.

Four varsity subs are back but none won a letter or appeared against Senior high. They are: Jim Lear, 6-1 senior; Al McMan, 6 senior; Bob Strinko, 5-10 senior and Glen Flusher, 5-11 senior. Two members of last year's reserve squad complete the picture. They are Mike Merva and Don Hawke, a pair of juniors who shade six feet.

FIRST ENCOUNTER

Tomorrow's battle will be the first for both teams. Coach Vern Hoffman has two lettermen—Norb Shibinski and Paul Ferguson—ready for Elyria. Shibinski got nine points and Ferguson three last year.

Hoffman has been working Willie Fowler, Ed Schmitt; Jim Anderson and A. C. Jenkins, all juniors, with the lettermen. Howie Tipper, Don Cline and Jack Bargahiser, also juniors, are also hustling for first team spots.

The Tyger mentor this week has moved Esker Jordan from the sophomore to the varsity squad.

Fred Staub's sophs will also open at Elyria tomorrow.

★

A game with an alumni team has been arranged for the Senior high lads at the annual Tyger club basketball clinic next Tuesday in the Tyger lair. The game will follow the parents' dinner.

HIGH SCORERS

Jim "Red" LeMunyon is heading the alumni cage squad of 11 recent Senior high graduates. Three of the leading scorers in Bengal cage history — Jim "Stretch" Regula, Dick Burton and Nick Gagich—head the alumni cast. The 6-5 Regula and Burton held most of the Tyger scoring marks until Gagich came along. Now the latter athlete holds every point record in the Tyger books. He was a cinch All-Ohio choice last season.

Other members of the graduate squad are Ollie Cline, Ralph Majors, Bob Nikolaus, Louis Snavely, Don Gross, Don Hardy, Jimmy Robinson and Dick Flockenzier.

Mansfield plays its first home game against high school opposition next Friday when Cleveland Collinwood comes here.

Notre Dame Big Choice Over USC 11

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Southern California's Trojans went about their football drills today, fully aware that mighty Notre Dame is headed this way and is heavily favored to take them apart here Saturday in the finale of the season for both elevens.

It will be the 20th meeting between the two in a series that began in the years of the late, great friendly rivals, Knute Rockne and Howard Jones, back in 1926.

Notre Dame is pointed for its 22nd consecutive victory, its 28th game without a loss—a victory string interrupted by that famous scoreless tie with Army in 1946.

GAME A SELLOUT

The incredulous part of the thing is that the game is a sellout. More than 100,000 people will cram into Memorial coliseum to see another great Irish eleven take on a Trojan team that has far more spirit than talent, an outfit that has been beaten by Ohio State, Oregon and California.

Last year it was recorded that the Trovs awaited the Irish much like condemned men awaiting the executioner. The observation drew caustic replies from Trojan rooters. One even wired that USC would upset the South Bend team.

Well, the execution took place, on schedule—38-7

But hope never dies, as witness last Saturday's results around the country, and there always is a chance for a miracle. Trojan rooters still hold out hope for a miracle on Saturday.

Fight Tuesday

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Eddie Giosa of Philadelphia is expected to arrive in Cleveland tomorrow to make final preparations for his bout with featherweight champion Sandy Saddler at the Arena next Tuesday night.

Stan Musial Gets National Loop Cup

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK—(AP)—Stan Musial, the St. Louis Cardinal slugger who just missed a clean sweep of every National League batting honor, today was named the circuit's most valuable player by a wide margin.

Batting champ at .376, leader with 135 runs, 230 hits, 131 runs-batted-in, 46 doubles and 18 triples, Musial fell short of a perfect score by one home run in a most remarkable season. He hit 39 out of the park but Ralph Kiner of Pittsburgh and Johnny Mize of New York each smashed 40.

As was the case in the American League where Cleveland's Lou Boudreau was an easy winner, there was little question about Musial's election in the vote conducted by the baseball writers association.

ALSO GETS PLAQUE

The award, which also carried with it baseball's official annual Kenesaw Mountain Landis plaque, is decided on a point basis. Each first place ballot counts 14, each second place counts nine and so on down to one point for a 10th place vote.

On a point basis, Musial had 303 for an 80-point margin over Boston's Johnny Sain who had 223. Al Dark scored 174. They were the only three with 100 or more points.

Sain drew strong support for his 24-game winning season that boosted the Braves into their first World Series since the miracle men of 1914, the voting, as usual, was recorded during the final week of the regular season and did not take into account World Series performances.

Dark, enjoying a brilliant freshman year as shortstop for a pennant winner, hit .322.

Fourth place went to New York's Sid Gordon who played a fine third base all season and drove in 109 runs with his .299 average. Next came St. Louis' prize southpaw pitcher, Harry Brecheen, a 20-game winner.

Pee Wee Reese, shortstop sparkplug of the Brooklyn Dodgers, who hit .274, was sixth, followed by Kiner, who hit 40 homers, and Enos Slaughter, a 321 hitter for St. Louis, tied for seventh.

TWO FROM PIRATES

Two players from the surprising Pittsburgh team placed ninth and tenth. They were Danny Murtaugh, making a gaeat comeback at second base and hitting .290 and Stan Rojek, who batted .289 after he was purchased from Brooklyn. In all, thirty-two players drew at least one point.

It was the third time Musial was named most valuable player in six full years of major league ball. The personable Cardinal ace, who celebrated his 28th birthday Nov. 21, won top honors in 1943 and 1946. Last year's most valuable, Bob Elliott of Boston, finished 13th although his team won the pennant. Mentioned with these number of points were:

Vander Meer, Cincinnati, 13; John Wyrostek, Cincinnati, 9; Grady Hatton, Cincinnati, 3, and Hank Sauer, Cincinnati, each 1.
